Shriver Denies Curtis Caused Center Closing

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Anti-poverty chief Sargent Shriver said Wednesday that the Lincoln Job Corps Center was not shut down because of Nebraska Sen. Carl Curtis' opposition to war on poverty legislation, as was earlier reported.

He said there was no politics involved in closing Lincoln or the 15 other centers which will be shut down because of federal budget cutbacks.

"Not only were they closed on a nonpolitical basis," Shriver told The Star, "but to illustrate that, we closed the biggest center in Massachusetts, which my brother-in-law (Sen. Edward Kennedy) represents—a center which is 50 miles from my summer home."

'On Its Merits'

He said the Lincoln closing "was made on its merits—it is not as good as some other centers."

However, Shriver noted that next Tuesday the National Job Corps office will review the Lincoln case to ascertain whether the criteria used in the shutdown determination had been applied correctly to Lincoln.

SARGENT SHRIVER

The investigation into the Lincoln matter will be headed by Job Corps Director William Kelley. The hearing was requested by Nebraska congressmen and Northern Systems Co., which operates the center here.

Shriver reiterated that his agency told the Senate Appropriations Committee during budget hearings that if there were cutbacks in Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) requests, some Job Corps camps would necessarily be closed.

"The criteria to be used were entered into the Congressional Record at that time and nobody of either political party objected," he said.

He emphasized that Sen. Curtis' actions did not lead to the closing of the Lincoln center.

'Closed All'

In reviewing phone calls made earlier Wednesday to Lincoln officials, Shriver said he had noted that "Sen. Curtis introduced an amendment to the war on poverty bill that would have closed Job Corps altogether (it was defeated).

"I made the observation, perhaps unfortunately, that it is funny we are being criticized for closing one center, when Nebraska congressmen wanted them all closed."

"Nobody should be surprised that the centers were closed," Shriver commented.

Could Be Avoided

"In fact, it could still be avoided," he said. "Sen. (Roman) Hruska (R-Neb.) is on the appropriations committee and he could introduce a bill to appropriate more money to keep them open."

"We tried to make it clear earlier that if they (the appropriations committee) made the cuts they insisted on making and they still wanted to get credit with voters, the cuts would cause us to close some centers," Shriver said.

He added that the Lincoln center "is successful and Northern is doing a good job —if we had the money we would continue, but we don't."

Maintain Control

In other developments, the OEO, headed by Shriver, said it will maintain control of all properties quartering centers to be shut down for possible further use under other federal projects.

The government holds a 25-year lease on the 500-acre Lincoln Job Corps campus.

There were unconfirmed reports that after a preliminary look, the OEO has finalized its position on closing centers and will not change, despite the formality of a hearing into the Lincoln question.

BROTHER SAID HE WOULDN'T NEED IT

George Jacobson is a senior U.S. diplomat in Saigon, and his .45-caliber pistol is in Minneapolis, in the hands of his brother Bud, above. When George, a retired Army colonel, entered diplomatic service, he left the pistol with Bud, saying he wouldn't need it anymore. But Wednesday, George killed a Viet Cong in the battle of the U.S. Embassy. He used a pistol tossed to him by soldiers seconds before the Communist entered his room.

Reds Knock At Doors In Saigon

. . . MARTIAL LAW DECREED

Saigon (AP)—The Communists have paid with nearly 5,000 dead in their frenzied guerrilla strikes at Saigon and other major centers throughout South Vietnam this week, the U.S. command said Thursday.

A soaring general casualty toll was announced as the third day of the coordinated Communist campaign brought new clashes in outlying sections of Saigon and heavy action in other parts of the country.

Knock On Doors

Some Viet Cong soldiers and agents were reported circulating openly in some crowded sections of Saigon, knocking on doors and telling occupants: "We have come to liberate Saigon."

There were reports that the Communist National Liberation Front was claiming formation of a revolutionary council to run Saigon.

Command spokesman said 4,959 enemy were killed in action from 6 p.m. Monday to midnight Wednesday, Saigon time. Another 1,862 persons were seized as Viet Cong suspects.

232 U.S. Deaths

U.S. casualties for the period were listed as 232 killed and 929 wounded. South Vietnamese government casualties were 300 killed and 747 wounded, spokesmen said. Other allied casualties were put at three killed and 22 wounded.

South Vietnamese authorities said 660 Viet Cong were killed in Saigon alone in less than two days of fighting. Civilian casualties were believed heavy.

Downtown Saigon was quiet Thursday, but skirmishing continued in suburban areas and bands of Viet Cong, some disguised in government uniforms, roamed the city.

The Communists captured part of Hue, the old imperial capital 400 miles north of Saigon, and seized control of half of Kontum in the central highlands.

2 Cities Hit

Two other major cities along the coastline in the north, Nha Trang and Qui Nhon, came under fresh mortar attacks and ground probes for the third straight day.

President Nguyen Van Thieu declared martial law throughout the nation in the wake of the Wednesday attacks against the U.S. Embassy and military and civilian installations from Hue to the Mekong Delta.

Part of Quang Tri City, capital of the northernmost province, also was reported under enemy control.

Da Nang Quiet

The city of Da Nang, site of U.S. Marine headquarters in South Vietnam, was reported relatively quiet Thursday. The air base there was hit by 12 rocket rounds Wednesday night.

From Ban Me Thuot, provincial capital in the central highlands, Associated Press correspondent Lewis M. Simons reported that U.S. and South Vietnamese defenders held out during the night in the face of determined Viet Cong attacks. He said action flared all night, but the enemy was not able to penetrate allied perimeters.

During the morning Thursday, a Vietnamese police precinct station in Saigon's Chinese sector, Cholon, came under heavy attack, and sharp exchanges of fire were reported in areas of Gia Dinh, the province that surrounds Saigon.

Troops and aircraft also swept parts of sprawling Tan Son Nhut air base on the edge of the capital, where heavy fighting occurred Wednesday.

Clash In Cemetery

During the night, one spectacular clash took place in the old French national cemetery only about 12 blocks from downtown Saigon. Persons living in the area said roving bands of Viet Cong surged through, pounding on doors and trying to arouse residents. Government troops rushed in and the Viet Cong slipped into the cemetery, where many heroes of Vietnam's wars are buried.

LBJ's 10% Surtax Proposal Receives Support Of NREA

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Rural Electric Association, ended its two-day 32nd annual meeting in Lincoln Wednesday with a surprising endorsement of President Johnson's 10% surtax proposal.

Support for the tax increase was voiced in the form of a resolution offered from the floor by Frank Haumont of Broken Bow, president of Custer Public Power District.

The resolution—proposed to conform with Nebraska's long-standing "pay-as-you-go" governmental philosophy — urged the state's congressional delegation to vote for the President's tax proposal.

Support Truth Bill

Delegates also urged enactment of the administration's pending truth-in-lending legislation.

The NREA also recorded its support for federal development of the proposed Dickey-Lincoln School power project in the Northeast.

"If we expect to get support for our projects, these boys (Nebraska's senators and congressmen) down there are going to have to do some horsetrading," NREA President Leland Kitt of Palisade explained in supporting the resolution.

ORRIN KOHLMEIER

New Head Of NREA

Orrin Kohlmeier of Craig was elevated from vice president to the presidency, succeeding Kitt.

Other officers named at Wednesday's session were Melvin Fink of Ainsworth, vice president; Kenneth Schmidt of Gordon, re-elected secretary, and Oville Choquette of Campbell, re-elected treasurer.

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, chairman of the Legislative Council's public power study committee, told delegates that they ought to support the proposed constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to merge wholesale power districts.

The amendment will go to the electorate next November.

Rate Uses Rapped

Holmquist also declared his opposition to the use of electric revenue by municipalities to fund other city projects.

"It is wrong for the municipalties to use electric rates as a substitute for taxation," Holmquist said. "I think it should stop."

The Legislature, he said, "wants to equalize electric rates in the state" as much as possible.

Back Basin

Among other resolutions approved by the delegates was a request that Missouri Basin governors, including Gov. Norbert Tiemann, petition the federal government for creation of the proposed Missouri River Basin Commission.

Tiemann withdrew Nebraska's petition for establishment of such a federal-state commission shortly after he took office last year.

The NREA also urged:

—establishment of a cabinet-level Department of Natural Resources.

Seek Study Funds

—a $300,000 congressional appropriation to begin a detailed study of the R. W. Beck and Associates engineering proposal for water resources development in the Great Plains.

—denial to Loup River Public Power District of "a disproportionate part" of the $5.1 million in surplus funds accumulated by the Nebraska Public Power System when Loup withdraws to a new four-county service area around Columbus.

—Rural Electrification Administration approval of a $14 million loan to Basin Electric Power Cooperative to construct new generation and transmission facilities in North Dakota.

House Broadens Interest Rate Bill

Washington (AP)—The House wrote sweeping provisions Wednesday into a bill requiring practically all lenders and sellers to tell customers the cost of credit-interest and other charges—in terms of annual percentage.

The House is expected to pass the measure Thursday in a substantially broader form than approved by the Senate last year.

Specifically, the annual percentage requirements cover these categories exempted by the Senate:

Revolving credit plans in which customers add on to their charge accounts and pay instalments each month; transactions in which the credit charge is less than $10, and first mortgages on real estate.

Disclosure

The House bill also requires disclosure in advertising of the annual cost of credit, if the advertisement is at all specific about credit terms. Thus, an advertisement simply offering "easy credit" would not have to go into details, but one saying "$15 a month" would. Responsibility for the wording would rest on the advertiser, not the medium carrying it.

Awaiting a vote Thursday is a section limiting the use of wage garnishment to collect debts. This would forbid garnishment of the first $30 a week of earnings, and allow only 10% of the remainder to be diverted to a creditor. Dismissal of an employe because of the first garnishment of his wages would be forbidden.

The House adopted a Republican-backed amendment that in effect would put federal enforcement agencies behind state usury laws.

Federal Crime

The amendment defines as a federal crime the lending of money at rates in excess of those prohibited by the laws of the state in which the transaction takes place. Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader, said the measure is aimed at loansharking by organized crime.

Federal penalities would range from five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine to 25 years and $10,000 fine, in cases involving violence or conspiracy.

The House voted 135 to 19 to include revolving credit in the disclosure by annual percentage section.

Hake, 43, Charged In Slaying

. . . OF WIFE

John Kent Hake, 43, was charged Wednesday with second degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting Tuesday night of his wife, Jeanette, 42.

Hake, appearing with his court-appointed attorney, Rollin Bailey, requested a preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court which was set for Feb. 9.

Hake stood calmly as the complaint, specifically charging him with "feloniously, purposely, intentionally, maliciously, but without deliberation and premeditation" killing his wife, was read.

Arrested At Home

Hake was arrested Tuesday night shortly after the shooting incident at the Hake home at 873 No. 26th.

According to police, three spent 22-caliber bullet casings and a rifle were found on the floor of the Hake home.

Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said Wednesday that Hake had given an unsigned statement in connection with the shooting.

Boy At Home

Douglas said the Hake's 14-year-old son, David, was home at the time of the shooting which followed an altercation between Hake and his wife.

According to police, an 11-year-old boy told them he was playing across the street when he saw the couple arguing on the front porch of the Hake home.

The boy also reported to police that Hake was carrying a rifle at the time.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hake are pending.

Survivors include her husband, John; son, David, Lincoln; daughters, Elaine at home, Mrs. Beverly Bolinger, Tennessee; mother, Mrs. Dreake Van Dyke, Hickman; brothers, William, Frank and Melvin Van Dyke of Lincoln; sisters, Mrs. Charles Birt, Hickman; Mrs. Darold Tackett, Mrs. Percy Davis and Mrs. Harvey Stoner, all of Unadilla.

Aurora Man New Head Of Livestock Committee

Dr. Jack Hadley Wednesday was named president of the Nebraska Livestock Industries Committee at the group's annual meeting in Lincoln. The Aurora veterinarian succeeds Walter Epke of York at the post.

DR. JACK HADLEY

Named President

Forrest Lee of Brownlee was named secretary-treasurer of the advisory group. Both Lee and Hadley will serve one-year terms.

At Wednesday's meeting, the group passed a resolution calling for continued publicity about the hog cholera program and calling upon the governor, the state agricultural director and the state veterinarian to enforce state and federal regulations relating to the hog cholera program.

Both Elmer Schlaphoff, state agricultural director, and State Veterinarian Stanley Flora attended the meeting.

Secretary - Treasurer Lee said the group discussed action pertaining to new federal legislation on meat inspection and noted that the state is in the process of explaining the federal requirements to meatpacking plants in Nebraska.

Lee said although no formal action was taken at the meeting, those attending generally agreed the state should take responsibility for compliance to the meat inspection law, rather than allowing the federal government to force compliance.

The federal statute allows for direct federal action only if the states fail to develop a workable program for inspection.

The committee, representing thousands of Nebraska farmers and ranchers, is made up of representatives of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association, Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association, Nebraska Swine Council, Nebraska Livestock Markets Association and state dairy industry groups.

North Korean Hints A U.S. Apology Would Free Crew

Seoul (AP) — A Communist North Korean leader hinted Wednesday that the crew of the Pueblo might be released under certain conditions. He said future developments in the Korean crisis depends on the United States.

The radio at Pyongyang, capital of North Korea, said Kim Kwang Hyup, secretary of the Central Committee of the North Korean Workers (Communist) Party, mentioned the capture of the intelligence ship at a reception for a Romanian Communist Party delegation.

"It is a miscalculation if the U.S. imperialists think that they can solve the incident of the intrusion of the Pueblo into the territorial waters of our country by military threats or by the method of aggressive war or through illegal discussion at the United Nations.

'Previous Practice'

"It will be a different story if they want to solve this question by method of the previous practice. But they will get nothing if they persist in their present method."

Kim did not say what he meant by previous practice. But on the receipt of U.S. apology two crewmen of a U.S. Army helicopter shot down when it strayed over North Korea were released in May, 1964. This, however, was a year after their capture.

In Tokyo, an official of a pro-North Korean organization said he believed the crew will be released if the United States admits it violated territorial waters and promised not to repeat the incident.

Seoul Displeased

In Seoul, Foreign Minister Choi Kyu-hah indicated his government was displeased with the handling of the Korean crisis by the United States.

He said more attention should be paid to the North Korean attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park Jan. 21 than to the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

Intelligence sources reported 88 North Korean infiltrators were captured last year and 17 surrendered.

Soldiers of the U.S. 2nd Division, which guards 18 miles of the 151-mile-long demilitarized zone, beat off four small infiltration attempts Tuesday and early Wednesday.

Infiltration activity has slackened in the past two days.

South Korean soldiers shot and killed another member of the 31-man band sent into Seoul to try to assassinate Park, leaving only four at large. Now 26 have been killed and one captured.

5 U.N. Members Offer To Meet North Koreans

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Five African and Asian members of the U.N. Security Council suggested informally Wednesday that they meet with the North Koreans to seek a way out of the crisis over the USS Pueblo.

Ambassador Agha Shaki of Pakistan, in his last day as council president for the month, told newsmen the aim was "to bring about the release of the ship and crew in order to facilitate and unconditional invitation" to North Korea to come before the council.

The proposal was calculated to meet both U.S. insistance that North Korea not be invited to the council until ship and crew are free and Soviet insistence that no conditions be applied to North Korean participation in the council proceedings.

Viet Cong Pockets Of Resistance Still Active

(C) New York Times Service

Saigon — Viet Cong guerrillas who had staged a spectacular series of attacks on at least 21 of South Vietnam's 44 provincial capitals, on Saigon and Da Nang and numerous other areas since Monday, were still fighting Wednesday in pockets of resistance. Wednesday night, allied aircraft were dropping brilliant high-intensity flares over Saigon to illuminate the battlegrounds near the race track, the joint general staff headquarters and Tan Son Nhut airport. President Nguyen Van Thieu declared martial law, and South Vietnamese government services virtually ceased functioning. (More on Page 1)

Village Takes It On Chin

Da Nang — One of the most beleaguered villages involved in the Viet Cong attacks and allied counterattacks was Ap Ba, which lies near the I Corps headquarters of the South Vietnamese army, outside Da Nang. Ap Ba's 700 people endured a retreating invasion by Viet Cong forces about 4 a.m. Tuesday, a counterattack by South Vietnamese rangers at dawn and strafing of their rice paddies by allied planes, boats and helicopters until dawn Wednesday. The villagers neither cheered nor wept when the allied forces marched 36 captured Viet Cong —out of an original force of 300 men—through the village. Except for a handful of officers, those captured were boys between 14 and 18 years old.

U.S. Apology Hinted At

Washington—A North Korean official was quoted as saying that the incident of the seizure of the intelligence ship Pueblo and its 83-man crew might be solved "by methods of previous practice," which analysts interpreted as a U.S. apology from the U.S. for intrusion into North Korea's territorial waters. Senators Are Critical Of NASA, Contractor

World News

Washington (AP)—A year-long Senate inquiry into the fiery death of three astronauts brought a conclusion Wednesday that "no single person bears all the responsibility for the Apollo 204 accident."

"Over-confidence and complacency" resulted from a prior successful series of manned flights in the earlier Mercury and Gemini projects, the Senate Space Committee said.

But the usually unanimous panel, which supervises the multibillion-dollar space program, differed sharply in the degree of reprimands for top officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and the prime contractor for the lunar landing project, North American Aviation, Inc.

Inform Congress

Thirteen members, led by Chairman Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, ranking Republican, urged that Administrator James E. Webb and other top NASA officials keep Congress fully informed on all its problems, including deficiencies of contractors.

But three committeemen, Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., charged both the space agency and its prime contractor with failing to keep Congress and the public properly informed prior to the tragedy at Cape Kennedy, Fla., on Jan. 27 of last year.

Mondale said the lunar project "was in deep and perilous trouble" before the accident and Congress was unaware of that fact.

Misleading

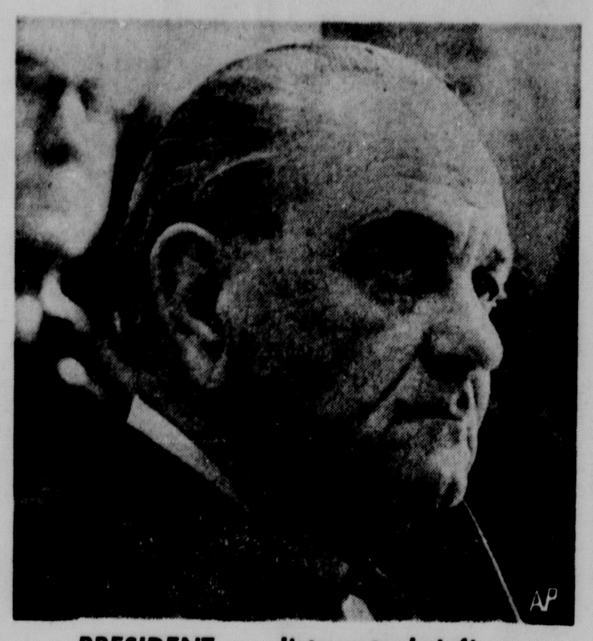
When Congress learned about a critical NASA report on North American through outside sources, Mondale said, there were "deliberate efforts to mislead committee members and evade legitimate congressional inquiries during an investigation of this nation's worst space tragedy."

"NASA's performance—the evasiveness, the lack of candor, the patronizing attitude exhibited toward the Congress, the refusal to respond fully and forthrightly to legitimate congressional inquiries and the solicitous concern for corporate sensitiveness at a time of national tragedy—can only produce a loss of congressional and public confidence in NASA programs," Mondale wrote.

Percy and Brooke, in a separate statement, said: "We are disturbed at the possibility that, had there been no disaster, important shortcomings in management, scheduling, design, production and quality control might never have come to light."

The majority report said NASA still hopes to make the lunar landing before 1970 and added: "The schedule is an essential and significant management tool—without it the program would require more and more time and more and more money."

All senators agreed that the Apollo project should move ahead and that the deaths of Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White and Roger B. Chaffee had brought numerous changes in the Apollo project.



PRESIDENT . . . listens to briefing.

Information Needed; Response Reserved

Washington (AP) — The Johnson administration held in reserve Wednesday a broad response to the Red terror attacks throughout South Vietnam pending more information on the outcome of the Communist assaults.

The White House disclosed President Johnson met Tuesday night with the Senate and House Republican leaders, received intelligence reports during the night on the attacks on the Saigon embassy and other targets, and breakfasted Wednesday morning with senior members of the Senate and House Armed Services and Appropriations Committees.

Press secretary George Christian said the President told the congressional leaders of both parties that the Asian crisis might require him to propose special measures which he hopes would be considered in a nonpartisan atmosphere.

Sitting in at the White House meetings, which were also reported to have dealt with the North Korean seizure of the USS Pueblo, were such administration leaders as Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

East Nigerian Rebel Leader Wants 'Unconditional Negotiations,' Truce

Umuahia, Nigeria—Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, the military governor of Nigeria's secessionist eastern region, which now calls itself Biafra, has called for a cease-fire and "unconditional negotiations" to end Nigeria's bloody civil war.

Ojukwu spoke at a news conference with foreign newsmen earlier this week at this railroad town north of Port Harcourt.

The colonel, a bearded man educated at Oxford, impressed his listeners as surprisingly candid on a wide range of sensitive issues. While Biafran officials had previously denied that mercenaries were fighting here, Ojukwu conceded he had them and was looking for more.

He also conceded that the land, sea and air blockade mounted by the central government in Lagos had hurt the economy, and that the foreign currency reserves vital for the purchase of arms and ammunition were running short.

Gardens Bombed

Minutes after the news conference had ended Egyptian-piloted Soviet-made MIGs of the Nigerian air force made two passes over the town. Their bombs exploded in garden plots in the suburbs. Officials said there have been many air raids recently on civil centers that are of little or no military or strategic importance.

Ojukwu stressed that he would welcome outside mediation "by any impartial body." He mentioned the Organization of African Unity and the Commonwealth Secretariat in London.

Ojukwu suggested that Britain, though she has openly backed her former colony of Nigeria with supplies of arms and ammunition, might still play the role as "an honest broker."

War 7 Months Old

The war, now in its seventh month, began with the federal invasion of the east shortly after the region's secession May 30. Since then, both sides have suffered thousands of casualties. Biafra is swollen with refugees who fled areas occupied by federal troops.

The federal regime, dominated by the north, has repeatedly asserted that it has nothing against the Ibos, the principal tribe in the eastern region.

Lagos insists that the sole aim of the war is to crush Ojukwu and his "clique" and reintegrate the Ibos and other minority tribes here with the rest of the federation.

Having already lost about 30,000 dead in the northern massacre of Ibos before secession, most Ibos view the war as an act of genocide on Lagos' part.

Kenya, Somalia Make Move

Nairobi, Kenya — Kenya and Somalia formally resumed diplomatic relations Wednesday in a bid to tighten the lid permanently on the desert war that has gone on fitfully on their common frontier for the past four years.

Kenyan President Jomo Kenyatta and Somali Premier Mohammed Ibrahim Egal had agreed on the move last Oct. 28 in Arusha, Tanzania, where they met to find ways for both to step back from a confrontation that was dragging them toward war.

Some fighting still continues in barren northern districts of Kenya, for Somali nomads who graze their camels and goats there take little notice of legal boundaries when they search for water and grass and are inclined to disregard voiced of authority from which ever side they come.

But at least they can no longer count on ammunition, weapons or other clandestine help from Somali.

Hard-Core Unemployed Program Lists Omaha

© New York Times Service

Washington — The Departments of Labor and of Health, Education and Welfare have disclosed to a House committee their priorities in the 50-city job program that would pay employers part of the costs of training the hard-core unemployed.

Pilot programs are already operating in Boston, Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Antonio.

Fifteen additional cities have been chosen for participation in the next five months. These are Atlanta, Baltimore, Birmingham, Cleveland, Detroit, Houston, Newark, New Orleans, New York, Oakland, Philadelphia, Phoenix, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and San Francisco.

Thirty additional cities will be reached in the fiscal year beginning July 1. They are:

Akron, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dade County (Miami), Dallas, Dayton, Denver, El Paso, Fort Worth, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Jersey City, Kansas City, Long Beach, Louisville, Memphis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Norfolk, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Portland, Ore., Rochester, N.Y., St. Paul, San Diego, Seattle, Tampa, Toledo and Tulsa.

The program contemplates spending $350 million by June 30, 1969. It proposes to employ 100,000 hard-core unemployed in those 18 months and 500,000 in three years. Contracts between the employer and government will run for 15 months. The average cost per person is estimated at $3,500.

Find May Be Breakthrough In Tooth Decay

New York (AP) — Tooth decay can be prevented in animals by putting a harmless chemical in their food and water, dental researchers reported Wednesday.

The discovery "may well be a major breakthrough in the control of dental caries (decay," an editorial in the Journal of the American Dental Association declares.

The chemical is an enzyme, dextranase, that breaks down dextran. And dextran is a main ingredient in sticky "plaques," containing bacteria, that form on teeth to initiate the process of decay.

The plaques in turn can harden into calculus or tartar, setting the stage for destructive gum disease that causes enormous loss of teeth and gums and bone.

The new findings therefore hold promise of combatting both tooth decay and gum disease. Human tests of the new approach are planned.

Ties Resumed By Yugoslavia, West Germany

© New York Times Service

Bonn—West Germany resumed diplomatic relations with Yugoslavia Wednesday after a 10-year break.

West Germany broke off diplomatic ties with Yugoslavia in October, 1957, shortly after the government of President Tito recognized East Germany.

The break was made on the basis of the 1955 Hallstein Doctrine, named for Walter Hallstein, foreign policy adviser to the late Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, which held that West Germany would break diplomatic relations with countries that recognized East Germany. The Soviet Union was treated as an exception because it was one of the victors in World War II.

The change in policy took place during the last two years when West German officials began to consider the advantages of normal relations with Communist governments.

Sterling Enters Nixon's Name In N.H. Primary

© New York Times Service

Concord, N.H.—The name of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was formally entered Wednesday in the New Hampshire primary of March 12.

The action placed Nixon in direct contention with Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who entered the contest personally three weeks ago.

State Rep. David A. Sterling, state chairman of the Nixon campaign, filed 808 signatures with Robert L. Stark, the New Hampshire secretary of state. State law requires a minimum of 50 signatures from each of the two congressional districts.

The only nationally-known name on the Democratic presidential list on this final day for filing was that of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, who personally filed his intention of running last Friday.

Evidence Of Job Corps' Value Stressed By McCook Director

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

McCook — Lee Wilson and Manuel Pereyra are the kind of Job Corpsmen their director likes to hold up as "our reason for existence."

Wilson, a strapping 18-year-old from Greenville, Ala., was named corpsman of the month Tuesday night at what Director Clem Griffin termed "our las supper." Held to recognize top achievement among the 75 enrollees remaining at the old air base site, the affair also became the stage for an announcement that "we're to be in mothballs here by March 31."

The two-year-old McCook program is among 16 in the nation, including Lincoln, being closed as an economy measure. What perturbs Griffin, a former Oklahoma teacher and 10-year Army veteran, is that "some of these kids will be losing the only home they've ever known."

Quit High School

Although that isn't the case with Wilson, his progress during 18 months does contrast with a background forcing him to quit high school and help support nine brothers and sisters. An employment agency recommended the Job Corps.

"I'd have settled fast then for a job paying 75 cents an hour," beamed the youth. "Now I can operate all kinds of heavy equipment and they tell me I'll make at least $2.50 an hour."

More dramatic was the change in Pereyra, now described as "one of the finest corpsmen we have." Recent publication of a letter to his hometown Denver Post contrasted past experiences with the present.

"I was in jail 14 times before joining the corps, including one 90-day sentence for shooting a fellow in the shoulder," reflected the 18-year-old boxing star. "I've grown up a lot here the past eight months, have learned welding and have been in no trouble whatsoever. I spent my two weeks leave in Denver challenging other guys on the streets to join the Job Corps."

Many Changes

Griffin can cite numerous other transitions — like the two belligerent brothers from Omaha assigned to the center several months ago. One has graduated, the other is still enrolled and is "more than a success."

"I was afraid even to turn my back when those two first arrived," reflected the director. "You just wouldn't believe what a change they experienced."

Jack D. Walters, corpsman supervisor, said the most significant gain for the average enrollee is "learning pride in his work and confidence in himself." Job skills and formal educational training are actually of secondary importance.

Griffin scoffed at reports, supplied by the Office of Economic Opportunity through Rep. Dave Martin, that McCook has the lowest ranking among 124 centers in the nation. He said an evaluation team in November "complimented us as the best center they had seen in their 10-state area."

NU Comic Opera 'Played To Hilt'

By RUTH ARDIS

Laughter left scarcely a dry eye in the audience at the first performance of Benjamin Britten's comic opera "Albert Herring" Wednesday night. Persons fortunate enough to have tickets for one of the remaining performances at Howell Theatre this week will find out why.

Here was comedy played to the hilt by a superb cast of students from the University of Nebraska School of Music. Professor Richard Grace, musical director, and Professor John Zei, stage director, have put together a show sure to please both opera buffs and the uninitiated.

Jill Eiche dominated the entire production as the aristocratic Lady Billows. Although her comedy characterization was superb, her singing voice should not be overlooked. Jefrfey Sayre was convincing as mother's boy Albert Herring who was chosen "King of the May" when a virtuous young girl could not be found.

Dianne George, as Albert's domineering mother, and Paul Surface and Mary Gray as his friends who finally effect his rebellion and downfall, were also outstanding.

There are no small parts in the opera. Each member of "The Committee" — Dale McClellan, Jean Lemmon, Sandra Polhemus, Roy Cram, and Russel Thompson — was excellent. The village children were delightfully portrayed by Sandra Dobbins, Nancy Muhs and Jeannie Dietrich.

This cast will be heard again on Friday. The alternate cast on Thursday and Saturday includes Wanda Nelson, Rick Brandt, Paul Surface, Arlene Caudhill, Sharon Atack, Mary Edwards, Mary Potter, Frank Schultz, Mally Keelan, Robert Jones, Linda Doeschot.

Since the music department has good vocal and orchestral resources, the alternate cast promises to be as strong as the one heard on opening night.

It would be impossible to separate the music from the action in this opera. The hilarious pace continues through Britten's music, leaving the audience unaware of the tremendous difficulties of the vocal score.

Many Lyric Arias

Although chromaticism and dissonace are used freely in keeping with the comedy aspects of the plot, there are many lyric arias. However, one has the feeling that Britten sometimes uses this device as a subtle tongue-in-cheek caricature of grand opera.

The orchestra provided effective accompaniment and overtures to the acts. Fascinating glissando effects, harmonic and rhythmic patterns were well played, although the orchestra was generally too loud because of the unfortunate pit situation at the theatre.

The staging and costume designs of Prof. A. E. Kohout and the lighting by Prof. Jerry Lewis were simple but effective. The device of changing the scenery openly on a partially darkened stage gave a sense of audience participation and intimacy to the production.

Altogether the opera provides a delightful evening of comedy and music which will be enjoyed by many before the curtain rings down after the final performance Saturday evening.

Hall County Lawsuits Attack G.I. Annexations, State Law

Grand Island (AP) — Two lawsuits were filed Wednesday in Hall County District Court attacking certain recent city annexations and the state law under which the annexations were made.

One suit was filed by Wallace and Lila Nunnenkamp and the other by Arnold Meyer and Meyer's Farm Equipment Co.

The suits attack certain annexations to the west and northwest of the city and ask that the annexations be declared invalid.

Both suits attack the constitutionality of LB508, passed by the 1967 Legislature which provides cities of the first class with certain annexation powers.

He was named general manager of the North Platte paper in 1946 on the merger of the Bulletin and the Telegraph and was named publisher of the paper in 1964.

Cooper will be succeeded as publisher by James W. Kirkman, 57, who joined the paper as sports editor while a junior in high school in 1926.

James C. Seacrest was named business manager; Marlin J. Sprengler was named advertising manager and Richard Downing, who has been mechanical superintendent, was named production manager.

Grand Island (AP) — Three persons died Tuesday night in a head-on crash of two cars on U.S. Highway 30, about three miles west of here. A third car was involved, but its driver was not injured seriously enough to be hospitalized.

Nebraska News

Hall County Attorney Robert Paulick identified the dead Wednesday as Mrs. Arthur (Verna) Bartlett, in her mid 30s, of Grand Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob D. Cover of Grand Island. Cover was 39; his wife 35.

Investigators said the Covers were riding in one car and Mrs. Bartlett was in another when the two collided almost head-on. The trio died at the scene, Paullek said.

Harry Brooks, 64, Juniata, driver of the third car, said his vehicle was struck from the rear by one of the two cars. The Brooks' car went into a ditch and came to rest in an open field.

Conduct Limits Policy For Boys Is Favored

. . . At Training School By Sigler

Kearney (AP)—Deputy State Institutions Director Maurice H. Sigler said Wednesday night he favors a policy which sets conduct limits for boys at the Kearney Boys Training School, as opposed to a "permissive" philosophy.

He described a permissive operation as one which allows a boy "to express himself in a manner that is acceptable to him, and almost without restriction."

Proponents of the permissive philosophy will say that if a boy has hostilities and "becomes angry and kicks out a window," this would be "good therapy for the overall treatment of the boy," he noted.

'Limit Setting'

Sigler said, however, the philosophy he believes in could be called "limit setting." He said it "has nothing to do with punitive or penal measures or atmosphere."

"It simply means," he said, "that within limits, the youngster is given an opportunity to make his own decisions and to express himself in his own way—this up to a point—and from then on, his actions, his program and behavior is a controlled or disciplined situation." Discipline is for control and not for punishment, he emphasized.

The discussion of operations at the Boys Training School, object of considerable public attention in recent weeks, was contained in a speech at a Jaycee "boss of the year" banquet in Kearney.

Sigler, deputy institutions director for corrections, acknowledged that the institution "has a long way to go before it can be said that it is being operated adequately in all of its areas," but said the institution has no problems "that have not existed for a long while."

In advocating the setting of limits on conduct of boys at the institution, Sigler said smoking by youngsters should be prohibited because it is against the law and is, "I believe, unhealthy."

He said the institution rather than the boy should decide whether he is to go to school. And a boy with less than a 12th grade education should not be released in the middle of a semester, except under unusual circumstances, because of complications in transferring to a different school in midterm, he said.

Sigler said the most important need at the Kearney institution is the establishment of an in-service training program, administered by professionally trained staff members.

He said there is need also to upgrade salaries "but this is not a problem peculiar to the Boys' Training School."

Shorted Wires Blamed For Fire In School's Gym

By The Associated Press

The State Fire Marshal's office listed shorted wires in the barber shop as probable cause of the Jan. 21 fire which destroyed the gymnasium and barber shop at the Kearney Boys Training School.

Inspector Wally Barnett said no further investigation into the fire's cause is planned.

He said the fire was able to spread because of a water shortage, a faulty pumper on one fire truck and the distance to the school which fire trucks must travel.

Deputy Institutions Director Maurice Sigler said the public and Catholic school systems in Kearney have offered use of their facilities to the training school students until a replacement gymnasium can be built.

Sigler said the emergency need for a new gymnasium would not defer construction projects already scheduled. He said construction of a new intensive care unit at the institution is slated to begin April 1.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The public should not be misled in regard to the facts surrounding the announced closing of the Lincoln Job Corps Center. The 16 centers that are to be closed across the nation are the result of inadequate appropriations by Congress, not mismanagement of funds by the administration, as claimed by Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska.

The Lincoln center specifically is being closed because of the Nebraska congressional delegation's vehement opposition to the Job Corps program. Senator Curtis actually was a leader in the Senate in opposition to the program.

Rep. Robert Denney of Fairbury, whose district includes Lincoln, has been an outspoken critic of the Job Corps and just about every other kind of anti-poverty program.

★

The Lincoln center is being closed simply because all the centers cannot be maintained with the funds appropriated and the programs planned and because the people of Lincoln and Nebraska, through their congressional delegation, have said they do not want the center.

But do we want it? We would like to keep the payroll of more than $3 million and other economic advantages of the center, but we are not so sure the people want the center.

It is possible that the Office of Economic Opportunity has done just what a majority of the people of Lincoln would want done. But at any rate, we ought to know why things are happening the way they are.

Just to add a little more to the Curtis record, he also voted for lower increases in Social Security benefits than were approved, voted against increasing the earnings limit of Social Security recipients, voted against the government's saving money by buying drugs under Medicare by their generic rather than their trade names and voted against giving aid-to-dependent children payments to mothers who stayed at home with their children.

★

The vote on drugs was a vote for the big drug industry while all the other votes were votes against the interests of average people and everyday citizens. Curtis would have you believe he is for people, but he votes against them at every chance and for the interests of big money and big influence.

This is his record on the Job Corps and the entire anti-poverty program. He and others like him have been somewhat successful.

While appropriating approximately the same for the Office of Economic Opportunity, under which the Job Corps falls, for fiscal 1968 as was provided for fiscal 1967, Congress failed to provide any excess for normal increases in the cost of maintaining these programs.

Additionally, Congress ordered $10 million of the OEO appropriation transferred to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Also, it included in the OEO total appropriation for 1968 programs costing millions of dollars that were not there in 1967. Finally, it directed certain changes in emphasis that resulted in shifting of funds from one program to another.

In the end, the OEO could not possibly do all it had done last year and follow the directions of Congress without eliminating something.

All this is important because it all relates back to the attitude and opinion of voters right here at home. If these voters want to persist in an anti-government, especially federal government, attitude and want an all-negative delegation in Washington, that is their decision to make, but they should know they are bucking the current of national trends and that they are isolating themselves from the federal funds and programs involved.

★

They are turning their backs on those efforts being made at the national level to do something about the poverty from which spring the riots, crime, demonstrations and other occurrences that disrupt and endanger the lives and happiness of all citizens.

They are turning their backs on people such as the 1,000 corpsmen now stationed at the Lincoln Job Corps Center, boys who have never yet known the real meaning of the word "opportunity."

Finally, here in Lincoln these boys have been given a glimmer of hope. Having been pushed and shoved in all directions and victimized by their environment, they finally are given a meaningful chance to improve themselves.

Not all of them would avail themselves of it, but many of them would. Now, they face the prospect of this chance's being cut out from under them.

For them, it is another disillusionment, another frustration. This has been the pattern of their lives. How many such experiences will they have before they finally turn against the society in which they can find no place?

★

How long will it be before their hatred and bitterness can no longer be erased? If they do not turn to crime or rioting, will they ever be the kind of citizen and parents which the nation needs or will they simply perpetuate their poverty and their animosities through another generation?

And the Job Corps youth are not all that are involved. There are the adult slum and near-slum dwellers whom President Johnson hopes to reach with his model cities program, his government-business employment partnership and other programs.

The people we send to Washington are all against these things. Are the people of Lincoln and Nebraska against them and, if so, what are the consequences?

The consequences, in addition to our loss of federal funds, are continued human suffering in a nation that need not have it and continued human violence to embarrass us, to endanger us and to drain our economic resources for non-constructive actions of control and containment.

We will pay the price either way but only in one way will we make any progress. In our Job Corps closing is the story of paying the price and getting nothing in return and the authors of the story are in our congressional delegation, commissioned for their work by the voters of Nebraska.

Petition Moves Fail

It is a blessing for Lincoln that two recent petition movements failed. The movements were aimed at blocking the closing of No. 14th through the University of Nebraska campus and blocking the city's issuance of up to $8 million in revenue bonds to construct a new office building for the state of Nebraska.

Contrary to some expressed thought, the movements did not fail necessarily because people were too smart to sign the petitions. The movements failed simply because those behind them lacked sufficient time and organization to get the job done. Given more time, there is little doubt that the required 3,853 names could have been secured.

Not much can be said about the No. 14th project. The closing is a simple matter to assist the university in pursuing its long-range development plans. The opposition was strictly economic, to stop the loss of traffic past certain business enterprises.

The state office building program is a little different and the city, perhaps, can still take some lessons from it. The project still is uncertain as to its cost, its size and continued state liability for the bonded debt to be incurred. These are a part of the reasons for which the project was attacked.

It might have been better had the city held its public hearing on the project earlier in the game. It might have been better, too, had the program been more firmly conceived before the City Council approved the bonding authority.

This may or may not have had any effect on formal opposition to the plan but the procedure would have been better. This is not a major criticism but city officials should never lose sight of the fact that a public agency operates in a fish bowl and needs to be particularly alert to public understanding and confidence.

Plain English Will Do

We have to cheer whenever someone strikes a blow for preserving the beauty and clarity of the English language. A Marine, Col. Ralph "Smoke" Spangler, did just that recently, according to The National Observer.

Smoke compiled a list of words, nonwords, "in" expressions, jargon, and trite phrases mouthed by speakers before the National War College last year. He classed the words four ways: simple trite expressions, bright new expressions that are overdone, excessive foreign phrases, and perfectly good, perfectly harmless words which are used to death.

Here is a partial list: boggle (from category one), thrust (from category two), per se (from category three) and xenophobic (from category four). Others—which can be heard at any gathering of college professors—are: pragmatic, charisma, dichotomy, hegemony, viable, ambivalence, academician, bipolar, expertise.

Etc., etc.

As if these weren't bad enough, we learn from an article in a woman's magazine that the word "homemaker" has come to be a degrading one. The suggested new phrase is "domestic engineer."

Tell that to your wife while she's scrubbing, waxing, dusting, wiping noses and being beautiful. It will make her feel a lot better.

Domestic engineer?

Let's skip the euphemisms and the high-brow—and stick to English.

JAMES RESTON

Law Of Compensation May Ultimately Lead To Sensible Negotiation By World Powers

WASHINGTON — It is not easy to find much consolation in the frustrating tumults of the present age, and yet, as Emerson observed long ago, there is a vague law of compensation working in the world which may in the end be useful.

Never in history have the great nations been so powerful or so impotent as they are today. The spirit of domination is as virulent today as it ever was in the major capitals of the world, but the small states defy it more effectively than ever before. Just when the apocalyptic engines of destruction achieve the power to wipe out the individual, the community, the small state, and even the human race, human courage and determination have somehow managed to achieve some kind of rough balance.

In politics, as in physics, every force now tends to create an equal counter-force. Hanoi cannot impose its will on Saigon and Washington by force of arms. Saigon, even with the help of half a million Americans and their military machines, cannot compel the Viet Cong and North Vietnam to surrender.

☆ ☆ ☆

The law of compensation works in peculiar ways. The United States and the Soviet Union have the military power to prevail, but the disadvantages of using the power are greater than the advantages. Washington can smash North Vietnam but China would inherit the wreckage. Moscow has the missiles to paralyze our air fields in South Vietnam and blow our aircraft carriers out of the water, but it dare not use them.

President Johnson can give North Korea an ultimatum and demand the release of the U.S.S. Pueblo and its crew by next weekend, but this could open up another war and in any event would not guarantee the liberation of the ship or its men. And fortunately, this limitation on the power of the great nations influences the Soviet Union and Communist China as well as the United States.

China could intervene in Vietnam and Korea and threaten the security of the United States forces in both places, but it knows that we would not allow our forces to be overwhelmed even if we had to use atomic weapons, so Peking holds back.

Moscow has the sophisticated weapons to paralyze our air and sea power in Vietnam, but knows that the cost of sinking an American aircraft carrier and knocking out our air bases there would be greater than the gains.

☆ ☆ ☆

History has been trying to make this point now for quite a while. Cuba with Soviet missiles which could destroy any city in the United States was intolerable: so the missile crisis was faced by President Kennedy even at the risk of nuclear war. But Cuba without nuclear missiles is merely an irritation and a bore, so Washington withholds its power and waits for geography and common sense to prevail.

The Soviet Union also tolerates the defiance of Berlin, which it has the power to smash, but at unacceptable costs. It resents the dissent of Romania and the defiance of Albania, and the menace of China along a 7,000 mile frontier, but it knows the new dimensions of military power and therefore restrains its power.

What is happening — and this is the consolation — is that the major governments are beginning to adapt their actions to the realities of power and geography. They talk tough, which is the respect they pay to the political assumptions and attitudes of the past, but they act prudently, which is the respect they pay to the destructive nuclear power of the present.

What Washington has not done is to recognize that it has achieved its main objectives in Southeast Asia: It has blocked the conquest of South Vietnam by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. It hates the idea of a "stalemate," and yet "stalemate," compromise, accommodation, cease-fire, and truce, are the name of the modern game.

☆ ☆ ☆

If either side presses beyond this point, it will have to use power that will create even more problems than now exist. The power it uses will produce equal power on the other side. Whoever loses the big battle now coming up at the demilitarized zone in Vietnam will call up other resources to keep the battle going, because the prestige of the two great antagonistic systems in the world is now on the line.

The law of compensation, therefore, will probably work, because both sides are now too deeply committed to withdraw and submit.

This is the immediate issue. The Johnson administration sees that it is too risky to use all its power to compel a solution in Korea, but it is still trying to do so in Vietnam, and so is the administration in Hanoi. One day both sides will probably realize that there really is a law of compensation that cannot be defied — that whatever power is applied will be met by the other side —and when that point is reached, there then may be a sensible negotiation and accommodation.

I was disappointed to note in an article in the Star about the voyage of the Phoenix to North Vietnam that Betty Boardman, one of the crew, was quoted as saying that "There is a greater law than the United States." She actually said that there is a "higher" law, by which she meant God's laws, or the laws of morality. These are the laws under which we sentenced the Germans at the Nuremberg trials, reasoning that orders from superior officers were insufficient reason for violating laws of decency, morality and humanity. Many Americans feel that some parts of our American government are not following these higher laws in reference to the conduct of the Vietnam war.

It was also stated that the crew of the Phoenix "didn't get to see Ho Chi Minh, but did have an audience with the vice premier, Nhuyen Duy Thinh." Betty Boardman was careful to point out in her talk that they never requested to see Ho Chi Minh or any high government official because the purpose of their trip was not to engage in diplomacy but to bring humanitarian relief to suffering people. The North Vietnamese vice premier sent word to them that he would receive them, which was done.

It is a shame that more Americans, particularly Nebraskans, do not realize that they are personally involved in this war, and do not take advantage of the opportunities of informing themselves about what really is going on in this war and work harder, in their own ways, to bring it to a just, honorable and immediate solution.

Job Corps Boys

Valparaiso, Neb.

I do hope they close the Job Corps down. People don't know what we rural folks have been going through since it has been here. I'm a farmer's wife and never before in over 20 years have I had to hook my screen door or lock the door when I was home alone. I have had to since the Job Corps has been located in Lincoln.

One nice sunny day, an out-of-state car drove in and two boys came to the porch door. One boy asked if I minded if they stepped inside and I said, yes. He grabbed the door and they both walked in. They were selling magazines, but I needed none. They wouldn't take "no" for an answer and wouldn't leave. I had no phone and was home alone. After several hours of trying to get rid of them, I finally took a magazine.

That was last May. I didn't receive any copies of the magazine so wrote about it. In October I finally received one copy but no more. I wrote again in December but have heard nothing further.

It can be seen why I have no use for the Job Corps here. In all the years the Air Base was here, we never had any trouble.

STILL PROVOKED

Lincoln, Neb.

I want to say a word of appreciation to the Job Corps boys themselves.

Regardless of where or when the government makes a decision, the fact that the center is closing is proof enough that a man cannot depend on others too much. A benefit is fine as far as it goes but the fact remains that you, the boy, last a lifetime. It is your life and you decide what kind of man you will be.

Life is full of problems, whether it be a dripping faucet, a sick, crying baby, a flat tire, the lack of shoes, a roof over your head or the need of God to see you through.

Why am I writing this letter? I saw YOU on TV and such sad faces I have never seen before. Boys, learn how to take care of every problem that comes up. Learn how to take care of the problem before it comes up. Learn how to help yourselves in any situation. Then you can help the next boy. Learn how to pray; know God. Learn how to fix a roof, learn how to earn, how to take care of a baby, how to fix that faucet.

Learn and never stop learning, because you are you wherever your are. May God put joy in the heart of each of you.

LINCOLN MOTHER

LA VERNA HASSLER

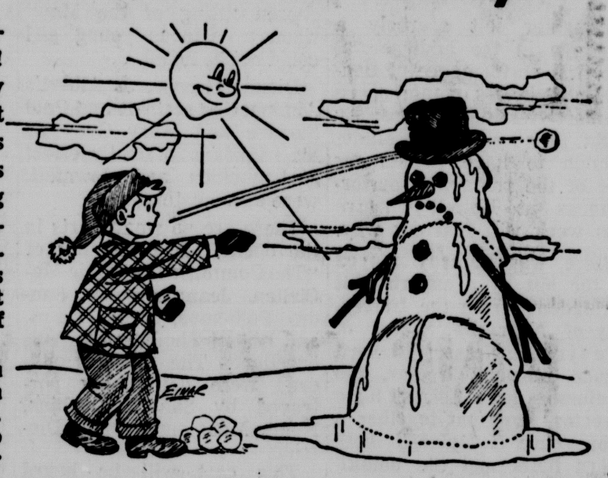
Patchwork Prairie Country

Only four weeks remaining until the first of March! True, there can still be many a snow storm left betwixt now and then but I always think when March shows itself on the calendar, Spring cannot be far behind. Thinking in terms of March appearing in four weeks seems a much happier thought than four more weeks of winter.

February has been known to pack a heap of snow upon the land if it wills to do so. I am not against snow, deep and unruffled, spread over the land. It's the wind we always get that piles it into drifts where we do not want it that I resent.

☆ ☆ ☆

Spring has come into the house with the blooming of the hyacinths that I forced this winter. The daffodils are a bit slower in showing their buds, although I have brought them into the warmth of the upstairs rooms. I peer into their tapered leaves every morning for a surprise bud. They have grown thick and full at the base of the stems so I know one day soon they will begin to shoot toward the light and full bloom.



The tulips, I fear, are going to be a disappointment unless something drastic should happen in the near future. They remain about five inches high with nary a sign of growing taller or thickening at the base. They too, stand in the sunlight showered with my attention.

If the bulbs should refuse to bloom, they can be put into the ground this spring where they will come into bloom another year outdoors.

☆ ☆ ☆

One good thing to come out of filing income tax returns is the destroying of accumulated papers. The government farm program virtually floods the rural mail box with papers and forms. After The Farmer has looked at them, I put them with his business accounts for safe keeping just in case they will be needed at a later date. Very few of them are looked at again until the end of the year when they are thrown into the waste basket.

For awhile the drawers are neat and almost empty . . . such a nice sight to see in January. But as the new year begins to roll away, the letters pertaining to the farm program begin to come again and the cycle begins once more.

Picturesque portraits I would like to frame for the keeping:

The squirrel in our dooryard jumping from bough to bough as he chatters his approval of a warm mid-winter day.

The giant tracks of the man of the house across new-fallen snow, followed by the smaller footprints of his son across the farmyard.

The cold steel blue sky of early morning pierced by the first glow of red sunrise daggers in the east.

The sagging form of a snowman melting into oblivion as if to say, "Life just ain't what it's cracked up to be."

A rosy-cheeked lad tossing snowballs at the snowman's hat in the hope he makes a direct hit so he can brag to his friends.

Couple Advised Not To Share Their Savings

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q.—"My husband and I are thrifty and have our finances arranged so we can retire in comfort. We're not rich but we can enjoy ourselves without financial worry. Unfortunately, our two sons aren't good managers and are struggling on small salaries with wives and children. They haven't asked for a penny, but we feel guilty seeing their pinched circumstances. Should we be sharing our savings with them?"

A.—No. You should give them a monetary token now and then to show your good will. But sharing your savings with them would merely make them dependent on you and wouldn't solve their basic need to find solutions to their own difficulties. Continue to show an interest in them and offer advice when it's requested. Encourage them to read books or attend courses which may stimulate their business sense.

Q.—"I'm a connoisseur and lover of fine cheeses. For years I've eaten two or three pounds of cheese a week. But now, at 58, my doctor has ordered me to give up cheese, along with butter, cream, and rich desserts. What's the point of living if you can't have the foods you love?"

A. — There's a lot more to life than cheese. And by disciplining yourself in this regard you may be motivated to get acquainted with some of the non-culinary treats which this planet offers. Of course your doctor may be an anti-cheese man, so you may want to confirm his dietary dictates with one or two other physicians before making this supreme sacrifice.

Q. — "I retired as a truck driver last year and sat around doing nothing for six months. Then one day I was killing time over coffee in a cafe down the street and asked the manager why he didn't give me a job as counterman. He handed me an apron and I went to work. I put in 40 hours a week, average $75 a week in salary and tips, and am having a ball. Why don't more grizzled old goats get wise to the fun of working just to keep busy?"

A. — They should — but many older people aren't willing to settle for a lesser job than the one previously held. If they realized it's worth money to have an occupation offering interesting contacts and stimulating activity they might change their attitudes.

State Air Commission Decides To Accept New Grand Commander As Replacement

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Aeronautics Commission Wednesday decided to accept the insurance carrier's offer of a new Grand Commander as a replacement for the state's $216,000 executive airplane demolished in a Dec. 2 crash near North Platte.

State Aeronautics Director Howard Vest told the commission that Royal Globe Indemnity Insurance Company of New York proposed either a new Grand Commander or a used Beecheraft Queen Air.

However, Vest said the company has not firmly committed itself on its option to furnish a replacement plane or make a cash settlement with the state.

Authorizes Vest

The commission's decision authorizes Vest to inform the insurance carrier a new Grand Commander is preferred as a replacement aircraft.

He said the two-engine, pressurized Grand Commander would be identical in type and equipment to the ill-fated state plane, but a year newer.

Vest said the 1968 Grand Commander lists for $277,000 as compared with $257,000 for the 1967 model purchased by the department for $215,824, including a $46,500 trade-in allowance on the state's old Aero Commander.

An older Aero Commander would be loaned to the state until delivery of a new Grand Commander can be made in June, Vest said in reporting on the insurance offer.

Vest said the Beechcraft, alternatively offered, had only 12 flying hours and lists for $291,000, but is nearly 18 months old.

Only Month Old

The Grand Commander purchased by the state was only a month old when it crashed following an inspection trip by three commissioners and Vest of airports in western Nebraska in early December.

Vest, who was piloting the plane, was alone when it crashed into the Platte River shortly after take-off from the North Platte airport on a return flight to Lincoln.

The controversial trip also included a stop-over at Commissioner R. D. Marcotte's hunting lodge near Lisco.

Publicly Denied

Marcotte publicly denied the commissioners or himself had gone hunting, but the commissioners later issued a statement saying that the hunting sidelight had been planned at Marcotte's invitaiton as part of the inspection tour.

Marcotte, who resigned this week from the commission, did not attend Wednesday's special meeting.

Vest said his eye, injured in the crash, is improving and that he can see through the partially-open eye. However, he said corrective surgery probably will be required.

In answer to questions from newsmen, the commission said the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) report on the investigation of the Dec. 2 crash probably won't be made available to the commission.

"If public release of the report is made," they said, "it will be through the FAA in Washington, D.C."

Vest said he still remembers nothing about the crash or the four days afterwards.

He noted receiving a letter from another flier, who wrote he cannot recall events of the crash in which he was involved seven years ago.

The commission scheduled its next meeting for March 15.

County Officials Association Names Sen. Ruhnke To Post

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke, 14-year veteran of the Nebraska Legislature, has been named executive secretary of the Nebraska Association of County Officials.

Ruhnke earlier had announced he would not seek re-election to the Unicameral.

Raymond Hahn of Paxton, association president, said Ruhnke will become the association's first executive secretary effective May 1. He declined to disclose the position's salary.

Hahn said the association will open an office in Lincoln but said the location is not firm as yet.

Hahn said Ruhnke's duties will include legislative lobbying as well as organizational activities of the association.

Ruhnke, a 59-year-old Plymouth farmer, is the only member of the Unicameral to claim to be a political independent. There are 36 Republicans and 12 Democrats in the body.

Hahn said Hal Bauer, a Lincoln attorney and former state senator, would continue to serve as legal counsel to the association.

CB&Q Says Aid To Ozark Reason To Drop Trains

Chicago (UPI)—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Tuesday said one reason it wants to drop two passenger trains between Chicago and Kansas City, Mo., is federal subsidies to Ozark Airlines.

Richard Gleason, attorney for the railroad, said Ozark has received $5.2 million a year in federal subsidies since 1954. The railroad receives no subsidies, he said.

Gleason said the Burlington lost $282,328 last year while Ozark was given $4.7 milion.

YOUR INCOME TAX:

Gambling Winnings Taxable

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

Washington (AP)—You must pay taxes on your gambling winnings—whether you won them legally or illegally.

Wages and salaries are only a part of the income which is subject to taxes and such earnings as kickbacks, side commissions, lottery and raffle prizes and even alimony you received must be listed as taxable income.

Any non-cash prizes are included at their fair market value.

But the government will give you a tax break if you file a joint tax return with your wife or can qualify as the head of a household or as a surviving spouse.

A joint return can be filed on either the short or long income tax form but the long form 1040 must be filed when you claim status as the head of a household or surviving spouse.

You can select the option which provides the lowest tax —if you can qualify.

Highest Rates

Remember, single persons pay the highest tax rates. Married persons filing joint returns and persons qualifying as surviving spouses pay the lowest rate on the same amount of income. Taxpayers who qualify as heads of households pay more than married persons filing jointly but less than single persons with the same total income.

IRS, however, does not consider a joint return valid unless both husband and wife sign it.

If your wife fails to sign, you are still entitled to her $600 exemption if she had no income and was not claimed as a dependent by someone else but you'll pay tax as a single person.

You can file a joint return if your wife had no income. Any of her earnings, however, must be included on the return.

Not all types of income need be reported on your return. You can ignore, for example, a dividend on your veterans government insurance or any Social Security benefits.

Tax Exempt

Unemployment compensation and railroad retirement are also tax exempt and should not be reported as income.

But taxes must be paid on interest you receive on a bank account even if the money is only credited to your account and remains in the bank. Ordinary dividends you receive from a corporation are also taxable but usually only those above $100. The first $100 from U.S. corporations is tax free.

Fourth of a Series

As for gambling winnings, you may deduct — if you itemize deductions — your gambling losses during the year but only to the extent of your winnings. You can't take a net loss on gambling for tax purposes.

Here are some other types of income which are taxable and must be reported on your return — bonuses, commissions, fees, tips, profits from a business or profession, rents, royalties and capital gains.

Examples Cited

Some examples of income which are not taxable and should be excluded from your return: proceeds from accident and health insurance, gifts, bequests or inheritances, interest on tax-free securities, life insurance proceeds, veterans benefits, scholarships or fellowship grants under some circumstances.

A husband and wife can still file a joint return if the wife earned more than $600. This will satisfy the requirement that she file a return.

Husband and wife can also file separate returns if they wish but in such a case the husband cannot claim a $600 exemption for his wife when she has income. And if the husband itemizes deductions, the wife must also. In other words, they must use the same deduction system be it one of the standard deductions or itemized deductions.

Surviving Spouse

A widow or widower can use the same tax table as married persons filing jointly and get the same break if he or she can qualify as a surviving spouse by meeting those requirements:

1. Your husband or wife died either in 1965 or 1966 and you have not remarried.
2. You must have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent and you furnished more than half the maintenance for your home in which your child lived except for temporary absences.

The same widow or widower who meets these conditions might qualify in later tax years as head of a household, giving a tax level about halfway between a single person and the married couple filing jointly.

But you can't compute your tax as head of a household if you are entitled to the benefits of a surviving spouse.

To qualify as head of a household you must be unmarried or legally separated on the last day of your tax year — Dec. 31 for most people.

You must also have furnished more than half the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative.

A mother or father must qualify as your dependent and live in a house you maintain although this need not be the same house as yours. Maintaining a parent in a home for the aged, however, does not qualify you as head of a household.

An unmarried child, grandchild or stepchild must live with you but this person need not qualify as your dependent.

Any other relative must live with you in your household and must also qualify as your dependent.

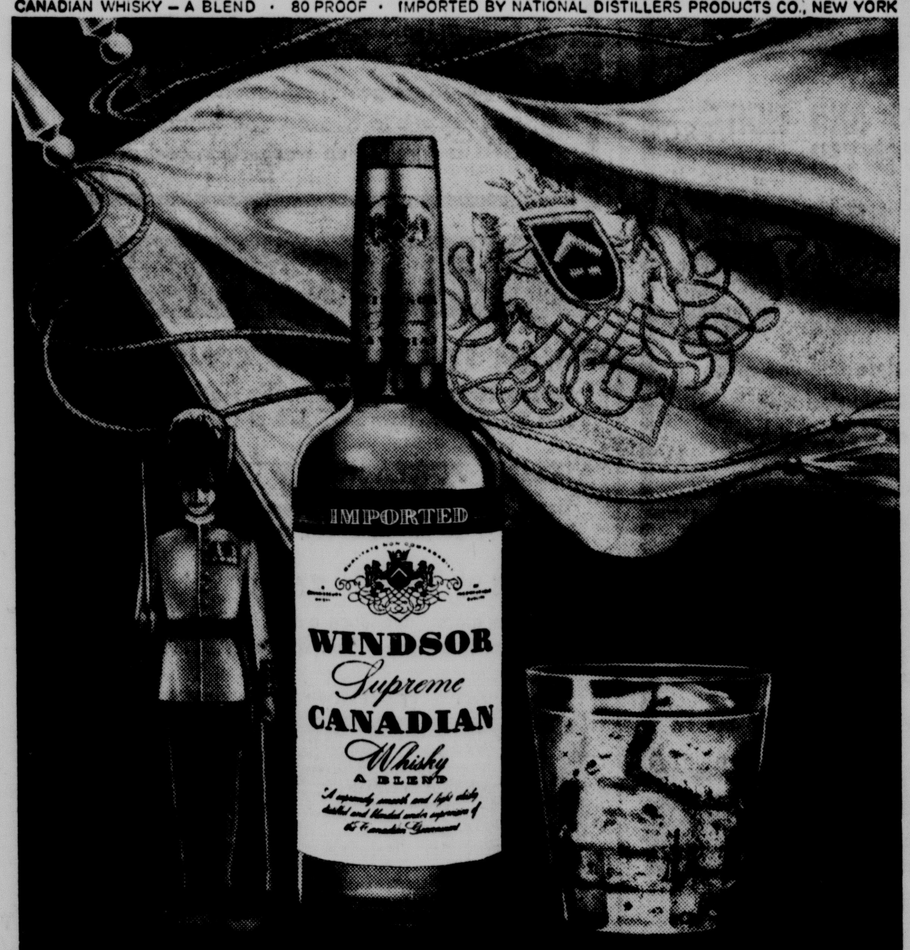
CANADIAN WHISKY — A BLEND · 80 PROOF · IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK



Elegant tradition:
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks —highballs or over ice—one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.

2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams.

3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

Harry Seward Elected President Of Community Council

Harry P. Seward, executive vice president of Bankers Life Nebraska, Wednesday was elected president of the Lincoln Community Council at the joint Lincoln Community Chest-council annual meeting here.

Seward succeeds John C. Angle who served as president of the council three years.

Elected first, second, third and fourth vice presidents, respectively, were Dr. J. Ford Forsyth, E. Ross Martin, F. Wendell Groth and Judge William Hastings.

Hastings, Mrs. Dudley Bailey, Dr. Marvel Baker, Dr. Russell Gorthey, Mrs. Elden Hitz, Julius A. Humann, George R. Kailey and J. Earle Trabert were named to the council's board of directors.

HARRY P. SEWARD

Elected President

The Community Chest members elected John L. Alden, Mrs. Keith Andresen, Robert E. Barnett, Leo F. Beck, Welcome T. Bryant, Laurence A. Conneally, Robert P. Durrie, Mrs. A. B. Gorman, Henry Greenwalt, Norman Krivosha, Dr. James A. Lake, C. A. Paulson, John D. Phillips, Irvin W. Pollard and Charles D. Sayre to the board of directors.

The 1968 Chest officers, President J. H. Hopkins, Vice Presidents John Olsson and Mrs. Keith Andresen, Secretary Gene Tallman and Treasurer Howard Chapin had been chosen previously.

In an annual report, Hopkins pointed out the need to evaluate health and welfare services in the city and proposed changing the terms of office and rotation of officers in the Chest board.

Doane College President Dr. Philip Heckman told some 100 persons attending the joint meeting that "social agencies represent one of the most forward reaches" in the attempt to achieve world brotherhood.

While family circles formerly served as the social agencies to meet their own needs and those in the immediate neighborhoods, "our loyalties reach out to a wider community now," the former United Fund and YMCA leader declared.

Heckman emphasized the continuing importance of voluntary giving and service in his remarks.

"I believe that it is up to the government to make life possible, but the private sector should make life worthwhile."

"We all are humanitarians through our taxes and voluntary contributions," he pointed out. "Ultimately we will pay" for the community's needs.

However, the president of the Crete school added, "The question is whether in the tradition of free men we will administer to the needs of our neighbors" or sit by and wait for government to assume the responsibility.

But the needs are "too great" for government to handle alone and the mandatory or voluntary contributors want a voice in the solutions to community problems, he contended.

The "opportunity to help the helpless" is worthwhile for both the donor and the recipient, Heckman said.

Rock Island Granted Order Halting Mid-America's Condemnation Action

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Wednesday issued a temporary restraining order halting condemnation proceedings in Lancaster County Court in connection with Mid-America Pipeline Co. attempting to acquire right-of-way easment across property of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co.

Judge Boyles also set 2 p.m., Feb. 26, for hearing on a temporary injunction in the case filed in Lancaster District Court Wednesday by the railroad seeking an injunction in the condemnation proceedings and declaration that a law passed by the 1963 Legislature is unconstitutional.

The railroad, in its action against Mid-America Pipeline Co., alleges that on Jan. 23, the defendant filed condemnation proceedings in a Lancaster County Court to acquire right-of-way easement across lands two miles east of Prairie Home owned by the railroad to construct an eight-inch pipeline for the transmission of anhydrous ammonia.

According to the petition, the defendant "purports to be acting" under a Nebraska law which applies only to persons, companies, corporations or associations transporting, transmitting, conveying or storing any liquid or gas for hire in Nebraska intrastate.

The railroad contends that the pipeline company does not and will not fall within such definition since the "sole purpose of its pipeline will be the transportation of liquid anhydrous ammonia between Borger, Texas, and Garner, Iowa, which purpose falls within interstate and not intrastate commerce as a matter of law."

The plaintiff further contends that the defendant pipeline company is not a common carrier but a private carrier not for hire and not available to public demand for the use of its pipeline in either interstate commerce or Nebraska intrastate commerce.

The railroad contends that the power of eminent domain applies to any person engaged in, and any company, corporation, or association formal or created for the purpose of transporting or conveying crude oil, petroleum, gases or other products thereof in interstate or intrastate commerce within Nebraska and that the defendant does not fall within that definition.

According to the petition, LB789, passed by the 1963 Legislature, is unconstitutional because it contains no restriction that the taking of private property by eminent domain must be for a public purpose; that it permits the taking of private property without due process of law, and that the law contains more than one subject.

The plaintiffs ask the court to find the pipeline company to be a private carrier not for hire and not a common carrier, to find that liquid anhydrous ammonia doesn't fall within the definition of the law for taking property by eminent domain, and that a temporary injunction be granted permanently enjoining the defendants from proceeding with the condemnation proceedings now begun in Lancaster County Court.

Mrs. Brownson, Former Teacher, Sorority Housemother, Dies At 81

Former teacher and sorority housemother, Mrs. Ethelyn Brownson of 1640 G, Apt. 2, died Wednesday at the age of 81. Services will be held at Umberger's Mortuary, 48th and Vine St.

Mrs. Brownson served as housemother at the Sigma Kappa and Alpha Omicron Pi sororities on the University of Nebraska campus for 20 years. For two years she was housemother to Delta Zeta sorority members on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus.

Born in Crete, Mrs. Brownson taught in the Crete school system for several years before her marriage to Dr. Hollis L. Brownson. She was a former resident of Western and Plymouth.

Surviving her are a half sister, Mrs. Bessie Eichelberger of Boise, Idaho; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Beda Ireland of Phoenix, Ariz.; niece, Mrs. Walter (Janice) Ehlers of Lincoln, and six other nieces and nephews.

SHE'LL DRINK TO THAT

Mrs. Glenn Cunningham cradles daughter Beth Ann, who was born with the help of an "alcohol treatment" to relax muscles and prevent premature birth. The therapy involved intravenous transfusions of alcohol and "a little elbow-bending" at home. Father and nurse look on at Summit, N.J., hospital.

Gray To Retire

Washington (UPI) —Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, D-Ill., announced he will retire from Congress at the end of this term after serving 14 years in the House.

Chamber Offers Corps Saving Plan

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Wednesday approved a proposal which calls for keeping all Job Corps centers across the country open by reducing operating costs.

Chamber directors approved a resolution suggested by A. James Ebel asking that Northern Systems Co., Lincoln Job Corps Center contractor, analyze its operating costs and see if it can cut costs by 15%.

Northern Systems would then recommend to the Office of Economic Opportunity that all Job Corps centers do likewise.

If operating costs could be cut by 15%, Ebel said, all centers could remain open by paring programs regarded as non-essential, but keeping "95-98% of all the boys on location."

He expressed concern that Lincoln was one of 16 centers marked for closing by the Job Corps.

"Our interest should be in the young men whose futures are in doubt and in our investment in the center," Ebel said.

In other action, the chamber board adopted as part of its transportation policy a position favoring maximum open reciprocal rail switching privileges for all industries served by rail located within the Lincoln commercial zone.

The chamber's traffic and transportation committee said it advocated the new policy because:

—"The absorption of local switching charges by the line-haul rail carrier is important to the growth of existing industry and can be a real asset to the community's industrial development program.

—"Presently there are several local firms that are denied reciprocal switching privileges while other firms in the same area are not restricted to the exclusive use of the one railroad serving their plant."

However, the chamber tabled a motion to file with the Interstate Commerce Commission a petition of intervention in support of the State Railway Commission's complaint against the CB&Q Railroad.

The complaint asks removal of alleged discriminatory practices on the part of the CB&Q by giving reciprocal switching privileges to some industries while denying it to similar industries in the same switching area wthin Lincoln.

Past chamber president Walter Nolte said he has "serious doubts about the propriety of joining the railway commission in enlarging its powers over the private property of the railroads."

The chamber executive committee was directed to look into the legal aspects of the complaint.

Five chamber members were presented with Life Membership Awards for soliciting new memberships. The Contact Club members and the number of awards each as received:

Clark Braymen (6), Ben Norris (6), Sam Chesin (5), Reed DeVoe (2) and Larry Draver (2).

Dublin has an amazing literary background. (For it's a small city as cities go.) From Swift buried in the cathedral —"he lies where furious indignation can no longer rend his heart" the inscription says—to Brendan Behan, the broth of a Borstal boy.

"He died of drink, Brendan did," they say in the Dublin pubs. The Irish are desperate drinkers in many cases. Brendan Behan was one.

There's flair in his "Borstal Boy." The youthful Irish dynamiter in England, in a forgotten and useless cause, put into the youth Borstal prisons.

Then there was "The Quare Fellow," a likely title.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Ah, he was a one," they say in the pubs he went to. "Let me tell you now of the time the pub closed, do you see? And Brendan took his friends home for a quiet drink.

"Now it happened," he said, "Brendan's wife was out, and the door was on the latch.

"Says Brendan: 'I've forgot my key,' he says. 'But wait a bit,' he says, 'and I'll look about a bit. For I'm dead for a drink,' says Brendan.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Well, Brendan goes to the back of the house. And he climbs the fence. And he pried open a little window, do you see? And he climbs into the window and over the fridge—tearing his pants into the bargain.

"He climbs down in the kitchen. And he goes to the front door and opens it and steps out — closing the door behind him and the spring latch snapping to.

"'Folly me, boys,' says Brendan. 'Thanks be, I've found a way in!'"

☆ ☆ ☆

The IRA — the Irish Republican Army — that Brendan Behan laid dynamite for was an outlawed body. First by the British whom they fought. Later by the Irish Government itself.

An Irishman said: "It got so they had to go over the border to find anybody to fight. For who was there to fight in Ireland once the British had gone?"

The northern counties, stubbornly British and largely Protestant, are what they fight about now. Northern Ireland belongs to the United Kingdom by choice and vote.

But to the Irish of Eire—"Would you let Texas go off by itself and be no part of the United States now?"

☆ ☆ ☆

The IRA has gone away by attrition mainly. The old members die or become mellow. But once in awhile, a pistol party will slip over the border in the old manner and shoot up a North Ireland police station.

The old days of pistol and bomb and the ferocious Black-and-Tans of the British police are recalled in song and pub lore.

"And this is Father Mathews Road, they call it," says the man directing you, adding — "him that was killed by the Black-and-Tans."

☆ ☆ ☆

"The sea, oh, the sea. Graw gal machree,
"Long may it roll between England and me.
"It's a sure guarantee that some hour we'll be free,
"Thank God we're surrounded by water!"

"Now there's a song written by Brendan Behan's brother," said the man in the Dublin pub. "The Behan boys were all for 'up the rebels.'

"Brendan died of the drink—the doctors told him to stop. But not Brendan. He was a quare fellow."

LBJ's Budget Proposes $14 Million For Power Line To Nebraska

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

President Johnson's fiscal 1969 budget proposes a total of $14,470,000 for construction of the federal high-voltage electric transmission line from South Dakota to Nebraska, a national rural electric spokesman said Wednesday.

And that should be sufficient to meet the current 1970 construction deadline, according to Robert Partridge, acting general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn.

Earlier figures on the President's budget request for the 345-kilovolt line from Fort Thompson to Grand Island had indicated an appropriation proposal for only $8.1 million in fiscal 1969.

But, Partridge said, a closer examination of the budget shows that the $8.1 million figure represents construction in Nebraska. Additional construction within South Dakota brings the total to $14,470,000.

If the President's request is approved, Partridge told newsmen, total appropriations for the $26.5 million facility through fiscal 1969 will reach more than $22 million.

That, he said, is "encouraging" news.

Considered Vital

The transmission line is considered vital to the development of power resources within the Missouri Basin, including Consumers Public Power District's new 800,000-kilowatt nuclear generation plant at Brownville.

Partridge told a Lincoln news conference that NRECA is now in the midst of a comprehensive study of rural electric system goals and objectives leading to a new proposal for supplemental financing of future needs.

The federal electric bank proposal, urged upon Congress by NRECA, was dropped last August because the legislation had been amended to the point where it would "not do the job," Partridge said.

Current Study

The current study is being undertaken by a 25-member committee which includes Leland Kitt of Palisade.

At issue is a means of providing rural districts with additional sources of financing other than the 2% federal loan funds now available from the Rural Electrification Administration. REA loan funds, appropriated by Congress, are not expected to be a sufficient source of development financing in the near future.

Nebraska senators and congressmen have "strongly" supported REA programs, but their support generally has been "less wholehearted" on power and resource issues, including multiple-purpose projects, Partridge said.

Partridge told delegates to the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn. annual meeting that the need to achieve rural-urban balance in the U.S. is "the most pressing domestic problem confronting the nation at present."

Millions of rural Americans "who have tried to flee poverty by seeking a new life in the cities (have only found) greater despair in the ghettos," he said.

Rural area development is necessary to stem the tide, he noted.

Prisoners Earn Money, Pay Taxes Through Work Release Program

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's three-month-old work release program for convicts has seen eight prisoners earn $2,935 at outside jobs, and become taxpayers in the process, the State Penal Complex reported Wednesday.

From the earnings, the prisoners have paid $1,078 to the state as reimbursement for the cost of being kept at the Penal Complex.

Out of their salaries also have come $291.59 in federal income taxes withheld, $130.21 for Social Security, and $8.80 in state income taxes.

It makes a "real good picture" of financial results of the program authorized by the 1967 Legislature, Charles L. Wolff Jr., work release program administrator, commented Wednesday in disclosing the earnings figure.

The experience gives promise over the long haul of resulting in sizable payments of state and federal income taxes, Social Security and institution maintenance, he said.

Under the plan, selected convicts hold outside jobs with private employers and draw the same pay as any other worker. They live in separate quarters at the Men's Reformatory in Lincoln, are transported to and from work in unmarked cars, and spend their non-working hours at the institution like other prisoners do.

Eight convicts so far have been selected for the new program, but one has been discharged, leaving seven currently at work.

Their out-of-prison jobs, all with private employers in Lincoln, involve such positions or occupations as electrician, metal plating, service station attendant, inventory and warehousing, and shipping and delivery.

The number of participants will be increased ultimately to 10, which is the capacity of the dormitory in which the men are housed, Wolff said. When that capacity is reached, "we'll take another look and determine where to go from there," he said.

Reimbursement to the penal complex for board, room and transportation is made at the rate of $3.50 per day.

Leftover money goes to help support families of the prisoners or goes into savings to be used to tide the convict over on his eventual release from confinement.

"There have been no major problems," Wolff reported. "The men are taking a real serious attitude towards their work and have performed real well, and the employers are quite satisfied with the progress so far."

Bethany Park Heights
South Hills
Park Manor
Prairie Valley

Now that the first month of 1968 has passed into history, we can welcome in a new one whose hallmarks are groundhogs, valentines and birthdays of two very famous presidents (not to mention the cold, blustery weather typical of a Nebraska February). So our advice to suburban residents during this month is to prepare to observe the above mentioned dates, bundle up, and keep thinking that spring is only a few months away!

Last Saturday evening found Bethany Park Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fotinos hosting the monthly meeting of their pinochle club. Enjoying an evening of cards were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Arell Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Foss and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bowmaster.

Birthdays were high on the agenda of interesting events at the South Hills home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kyles last weekend. Since the Misses Kelly and Lisa Kyles have birthdays so close together (Kelly was two on January 25, and Lisa became a four-year-old yesterday), both were honored at a family party which took place last Saturday evening at the home of their parents. Helping to observe this momentous occasion were the girls' grandparents Mrs. Iva Heaney, and Mr. and Mrs. Watson Kyles; their great-granparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ostrom; and a great-uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Merrill and their son, Jack Merrill. Incidentally, Mrs. Kyles tells us that one of the centers of attention was the huge cake which had been decorated for the occasion with two ballerina dolls.

Monday evening another special event was marked by Mr. Kyles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Watson Kyles, who observed their 32nd wedding anniversary. As a celebration they were dinner guests of their son and daughter-in-law.

Also observing a wedding anniversary —this one the 14th—were Patrician Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. William J. Reilley. On their special day, which is January 29, Mr. and Mrs. Reilley enjoyed dining out.

One very young suburban resident who is making news in Park Manor is young Miss Andrea Rae Sievers who made her debut at Bryan Hospital on January 21. Andrea, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sievers, has one sister, Jennifer, 3, who undoubtedly is very excited about the new addition to the family. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sievers of Grand Island and Mrs. Myrtle Blankenfield of Azusa, Calif.

Another young lady who has been the center of attention in her family since her arrival on January 26 is Miss Kalan Elizabeth Kessler, daughter of Prairie Valley residents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kessler. We have the feeling that Mrs. Kessler will receive quite a bit of help in caring for her new daughter from older daughter, Jennifer, a junior at Southeast High School; and sons Joe, who attends Pound Junior High; and John, a student at Calvert School.

Especially proud of their new granddaughter are Mrs. Charlotte Kessler of Omaha, and Mrs. June Carman of Lincoln.

MISS LANA KAY MILLER

The engagement of Miss Lana Kay Miller of Lincoln, to Ted L. Longacre, son of Mrs. Ben Freeman of Schuyler, and Ted Longacre, both of Schuyler, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Miller, also of Schuyler.

A summer wedding is planned.

Miss Miller is careering in Lincoln and also is taking classes at the University of Nebraska. Her fiance, who is now attending Wayne State College, will enroll at the University of Nebraska next year.

TALK

It's the light fantastic that occupies our time and attention this morning — Yesterday we said that a fun weekend lies just ahead, and part of that gay weekend pace involves members of clubs who will be dining and dancing.

* * *

In the Terrace Room at Hotel Lincoln on Friday evening the Mr. and Mrs. Dance Club will hold full sway. We hear that even though it's Groundhog day, the party has no particular theme — Anyway, planning the affair is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Larson, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. James Kamas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henrichs and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beck.

The three guest couples include Mr. and Mrs. George Knack, Mr. and Mrs. Don Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. George Andreas.

* * *

It's a different story as far as the Colonial Dancing Club is concerned — It does have a party theme — an enticing 'Candlelight and Lace'.

The dinner dance is to be held in the ballroom at Hotel Lincoln, and the party planners are Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Ress, chairmen; Dr. and Mrs. Harold Hellweg, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth McGinnis, Mr. and Mrs. William Walters, Mr. and Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Leceister Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gadd and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brown.

* * *

Then we go from 'Candlelight and Lace' to the 'Hippie' party the members of the Terpsichorean Club has planned for Saturday evening, also at Hotel Lincoln.

In charge of the details for the dinner dance are Mr. and Mrs. John Capron, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sommer and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ryon.

Tryouts At Playhouse

If you have a yen towards the theater go to the Community Playhouse Theater on Feb. 12, 13 and 14, and try in the tryouts for "Barefoot in the Park." Roland Reed, Playhouse director, is looking for two women and four men for the cast of the production which opens on March 15.

The tryouts will be held from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock in the evening.

Announcement Made Of Approaching Wedding

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Lana Brumagin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brumagin of McCook, to Reginald Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Robinson, is announced this morning. The wedding will be Feb. 17.

Today we have a real treat in store for us. We have the instructions for making "Diana Floral Beads". The making of these beads is almost a lost art so be sure to cut out this column so you will be able to keep it. We have Mrs. W. J. of Wilber, to thank for sending us these directions.

These directions call for wheat bread crumbs which are strictly fresh and made with water instead of milk. If shortening is used in the bread it should be butter and not lard or drippings. This is for home made bread. Vegetable shortening should be all right. The important thing is that the shortening should not be animal fat.

After the bread is quite cold, cut a slice, about six inches thick. Trim off the crust. Using the coarse side of a vegetable grater, grate the bread carefully, so that the crumbs are as light and flaky as falling snow.

NECESSARY IMPLEMENTS:
Small wooden bread board
Large-sized aluminum thimble
Steel nail-file
Couple of spoons
One half pound No. 2 bank pins
Two or three mixing cups

MATERIALS FOR THE BREAD PASTE ARE:
The flaked bread crumbs
Vegetable coloring (pastes)
Sachet powder
Fixative

The fixative is made from a teaspoonful of white flour to which has been gradually added three-quarters of a cup of cold water. It must be perfectly smooth and free from lumps. This is very important.

The aluminum thimble is used for measuring the bread paste,—a level thimbleful, using the blunt end of the nail file to fill the thimble with, packing it down solidly, and the pointed end to slip the paste out on to the board, where it is rolled into a slender, even roll, and marked off into four equal parts. There are four beads to a thimbleful of paste.

Have at hand the flaked fresh bread crumbs, the different colors of vegetable coloring paste as desired, sachet powders of rose, violet, helitrope, etc. and the fixative. The paste colors may be purchased in the Housewares Departments of large department stores. They are usually used for cake decorating.

Now that you know the "what" that goes into the beads, we'll follow with the "how" next week.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson of Beaumont, Tex., formerly of Lincoln, announce the arrival of a daughter, Diana Lynn, on Monday, Jan. 22. Mrs. Thompson is the former Barbara Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Ernest Hudson of Lincoln. Miss Diana Lynn also has other devoted admirers in Lincoln—her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Anderson, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Clark.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

The freedom to lead at will from either hand is a privilege not always available to declarer, and solving this problem of entries to one hand or the other is often the critical factor in the outcome of a contract.

Here is a typical situation. South is in four hearts and the defense starts with the king and another club, which declarer ruffs.

South would like to take two spade finesses as well as lead a diamond toward his king, but he has only two entries to dummy for these three operations.

The proper way to solve this problem is to lead a heart to dummy at trick three and return the two of spades, finessing the jack after East follows low.

West wins with the queen and can do no better than return a club, which declarer ruffs. South reenters dummy with a trump and now leads the ten of spades on which he plays the five after East has followed low.

This is South's second lead from dummy. When the finesse succeeds, he discontinues spades and leads a diamond toward his king. Since East has the ace, South succeeds in his mission; the only tricks he loses are a spade, a diamond and a club.

Note that if East goes up with the king on the second round of spades, South wins in his hand with the ace and returns to dummy with a low spade to make the decisive diamond play toward the king.

Note also that if declarer starts the spades by leading the ten from dummy and playing low from his hand, he eventually finds that the next time he gets to dummy he can return either a spade or a diamond but cannot do both, and he therefore winds up going down one.

Abby: times have changed

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please tell Sammy, the painter, that a painter is not the only man whose work enables him to classify the various types of aggressive housewives.

I am a clergyman, and believe it or not, I have as many opportunities as the painter.

I no longer call on women at their homes unless I take my wife with me. (She sits in another room, but it's good insurance against lusty ladies who would make improper overtures.)

And if a woman comes to my office in a mini-skirt, my secretary has instructions to follow her in and place a large shawl over the visitor's knees. And when my secretary departs, per my orders, she leaves the door wide open.

In bygone years, it was the man who aggressively pursued the woman, but today, most women are far bolder than men.

I am a grandfather, in my early sixties, and not particularly handsome, but some of the propositions I have had from married sexpots would not be believed. Even by you, Dear Lady, who must have heard everything.

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR ABBY: When a man marries a girl fresh out of college he doesn't expect to get the world's greatest cook and housekeeper. But how brainy does a girl have to be to know she shouldn't starch her husband's underwear?

UNCOMFORTABLE

DEAR UNCOMFORTABLE: That's a pretty stiff question. Give her time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "AN ANNIE MOUSE" IN ANDERSON: Yes, your husband's behavior is somewhat childish. But a 33-year-old man who has to sneak smokes behind his mother's back has enough problems without a wife nagging him. Lay off.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the etters under the checked figures gives you.

Groups Not Forgotten

(Fourth of a Series)
By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Lincoln's special interest sports and recreation groups aren't forgotten in the city's Parks and Recreation Department's capital improvements budget.

The budget is asking money for facilities such as archery ranges, go-cart tracks, ski and toboggan areas, shuffleboard, bicycle and pony trails, etc.

"Sure, these are keyed to special interest groups and won't get as much use as golf coures or swimming pools," Superintendent of Parks Don Smith admits. "But we've got to try to take care of these groups, too.

"The recreation philosophy is to provide for all interests, not just the peo-- ple who enjoy the more popular forms of recreation."

The budget for 1968-69 asks for $6,000 in this special interests area to provide bridle, foot and bicycle trails in Wildnerness Park.

A $4,000 item in 1969-70 would build a bicycle trail in Pioneers Park.

Requests are included for 1970-71 for $2,500 for an archery range at Holmes Park, $11,000 for shuffleboard courts at Woods Park, $10,000 for a ski and sled run at the Interstate Park and another $20,000 for more bridle, foot and bicycle trails in the Wilderness Park.

A go-cart track is in the 1971-72 planning stage for Holmes Park, a ski, toboggan and sled run for Holmes in 1973-74, a snow-ski ramp for Pioneers Park in 1972-73 and an indoor pistol and rifle range for Holmes in the future.

"We have some hills in our parks that are not sufficient for skiing, tobogganing or sledding at present, but with some work, we could provide ample facilities for limited recreation in these areas," Smith points out.

"I also think if we had some of these facilities, we could keep a lot of money in our city and state."

Long-range thoughts call for new swimming pools at Holmes Park and the Northeast Park, but not before the 1974-75 fiscal year.

The Park and Recreation Department is faced with a difficult decision in regard to swimming, notably the Muny Pool.

"We are going to have to spend a great deal of money on the current pool if we decide to keep it," Smith explains. "We've got to decide whether to spend money to fix it up, whether to build a new pool there or whether to do away with a pool at that location.

"The Muny Pool is second to Woods in attendance, but it is close to Woods and it might be that people now using Muny could go to Woods without being inconvenienced."

No figure is included in the current budget for the Muny Pool.

FIVE STATE GRIDDERS TO PROS

Taucher, Davis, Haas, Briscoe, Gilmore Cited

. . . 15 OTHER BIG 8 STARS SELECTED

New York (AP) — Quarterbacks Kim Hamond of Florida State and Dewey Warren of Tennessee, sprinter Jim Hines of Texas Southern and All-America defensive back Tom Schoen of Notre Dame were among the top collegians picked Wednesday in the closing day of the combined American and National Football League drafts.

Nebraska's Bob Taucher was the first of five state gridders chosen Wednesday, the big tackle going to the Dallas Cowboys in the seventh round.

The other four were all from state colleges. The Chicago Bears tabbed Doane guard Fred Davis in the 10th round, the Minnesota Vikings nabbed Omaha end Bill Haas in the 11th, the Denver Broncos selected quarterback Marlin Briscoe of Omaha in the 14th and the Buffalo Bills named Peru State defensive tackle John Gilmore as their 15th choice.

There were 15 other Big Eight players chosen in the final 12 rounds: Oklahoma's Bob Kalsu, Granville Liggins and Ron Shotts; Iowa State's Doug Robinson, Tom Busch and Les Webster; Kansas' Ben Olison; Missouri's Barry Lischner; Kansas State's Danny Lankas and six Colorado Buffs, Larry Plantz, Bill Harris, Charles Greer, John Farler, Wilmer Cooks and Frank Bosch.

Although most of the cream had been skimmed off the top Tuesday when the 26 pro clubs completed five rounds of selections, some still remained for the later rounds.

The teams were selecting a total of 462 players, including extra picks for Cincinnati, the new AFL team, during the 17 rounds.

Hammond, who threw 15 touchdown passes for Florida State, went to the Miami Dolphins of the AFL in the sixth round, using a draft right acquired from Denver in an earlier trade.

Warren, out of action because of injuries during much of the Tennessee season, was a sixthround pick of the Cincinnati Bengals who had acquired quarterback John Stofa from Miami in a recent deal.

The Miami club also grabbed Hines, the sprinter whose 9.1 seconds for 100 yards tied the world record last year. Hines is a flanker back with Texas Southern.

Schoen, Notre Dame's 5-foot-11, 178-pound defensive back and daring punt return man who was converted from a quarterback, was an eighth-round pick by the Cleveland Browns.

The Minnesota Vikings, who had selected offensive tackle Ron Yary of Southern California Tuesday as the No. 1 pick of all the collegians, came up with Bob Goodridge, Vanderbilt flanker, and Len Snow, highly-regarded Georgia Tech running back.

Goodridge, who led the nation's major college receivers with 79 catches for 1,114 yards, was taken in the sixth round and Snow in the seventh.

All-Events State King Troubled

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

"I'm just rushing up there too fast," Hody Wiese says, describing his troubles in the Lincoln City Men's Bowling Tournament.

Wiese won the state all-events championship last year with a 1961 total, but in this year's city meet, he hasn't fared nearly as well.

"I had about 12 errors just in my six games at Bowl-Mor," the 30-year-old kegler remembers of his doubles and singles competition Sunday. "I've missed four spares already this game," he continues.

The game Wiese was talking about was the first game of his team series Tuesday night for Traveler's Cafe.

His score for that game was a 177, far below his 195 average, but it could have been worse.

The nine-year bowling veteran finished the game with three straight strikes to achieve the total.

"I haven't been practicing as much as I did last year," Wiese confides, although his average is about the same.

In singles he finished with a 554 scratch series, then teammed with Bill Townsend in doubles. Wiese rolled a 521 scratch series in the doubles, finishing out of the top ten in both departments.

"My timing's been off," he says. "Too many errors."

Hody gets another chance this weekend when he takes the lanes again, this time with his Fiji Club team.

Charlie's Sprint Record Ratified

London (AP) — Jim Ryun's world records of 3.51.1 for the mile and 3:31.1 for 1,500 meters have been ratified, the International Amateur Athletic Federation announced Wednesday.

The young Kansas running great set his mile mark at Bakersfield, Calif., June 23 and ran the fastest 1,500 ever at Los Angeles July 8.

Other records put into the book include the 44.5 seconds for 400 meters and the 44.8 for 440 yards by Tommie Smith of San Jose State; the record-tying 10 seconds for 100 meters by Jim Hines of Texas Southern and the 9.1 for 100 yards by Hines and Charlie Green of Nebraska; the 17 feet, 7¾ in the pole vault by Paul Wilson of Southern California, and the 71 feet 5½ inch shot put by Rancy Matson of Texas A&M.

Cornhuskers Host Colorado In Big Eight Clash Tonight

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The last team to take the NU Coliseum floor after a lengthy layoff put on the greatest scoring exhibition for 20 minutes ever seen by a Coliseum crowd.

Now that team hopes the next team to take the floor at the NU Coliseum after a layoff isn't quite as effective.

When Nebraska took the court Saturday night after a break for semester exams, the Huskers blitzed Oklahoma with a 63-point first half output en route to a 110-90 victory.

Colorado is now coming off a similar semester break as they invade the Coliseum for a 7:35 tipoff tonight.

Buffs coach Sox Walseth, unaccustomed to Big Eight records such as his team's current 0-4 mark, isn't sure how the layoff will affect his cagers.

"The long layoff could affect us either way," he points out. "On the one hand, we needed the rest. We had been on the road through most of the month between the middle of December and the middle of January. Some of our men were pretty weary.

"On the other hand, we didn't resume full practices until the weekend and we may be pretty rusty in our execution. And our execution is what needs to be improved."

After being bombed by Kansas and Missouri to open the Big Eight chase, the Buffs' last two league losses have each been by only one point, a 60-59 setback to Oklahoma State and a 57-56 loss to Kansas State in overtime. Both losses came at Boulder.

"In four of the six games we have lost in the last month, we have been in contention right to the end," Sox says. "It wouldn't have taken much to have won all four and we're hoping we can find the right answers for the remainder of the race."

The Buffs can't afford to lose another and stay in the race, but at present with everyone having at least two losses, the Coloradoans still have a chance.

The Cornhuskers, meanwhile, who only two weeks ago were fighting to stay in contention, now find themselves in the thick battle.

Six teams, including the Huskers, are tied in the all-important loss column with two defeats.

A win tonight would shove the Huskers into a three-way tie for third place at 3-2 with Missouri and Oklahoma as they head into the Oklahoma swing Saturday and Monday.

Both the Huskers and Buffs possess a one-two scoring punch with Nebraska's Tom Baack and Stuart Lantz averaging 19 and 18.5, respectively, per game and Colorado's Chuck Williams and Pat Frink averaging 18.3 and 17.8.

—SIX SCHOOLS—

New State College League Organized

A new athletic conference, encompassing six private colleges in Nebraska, is being formed.

The Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, including Nebraska Wesleyan, Doane, Midland, Dana, Concordia and Hastings, will begin athletic competition this spring.

Athletic directors from the six colleges met here Monday to discuss scheduling, but final decision on the formation of the new loop won't come until the schools' faculty representatives and other officials meet March 25.

Nebraska Wesleyan athletic director Woody Greeno stressed that the league has not been officially formed, but added, "We assume it will be after the March 25 meeting."

All six schools in the new loop compete in all major sports, including football.

"We think," said Greeno, "that this conference is a partial answer for athletics in the small liberal arts colleges of Nebraska."

One thing in the league's favor, Greeno pointed out, is geographical proximity. All six schools are within a 100-mile radius of Lincoln. Dana, in Blair, and Hastings are the most distant —about 170 miles apart.

Midland, Dana and Concordia, now members of the Tri-State Conference, are expected to ask for dual membership at that league's meeting Feb. 25. Other Tri-State schools are Yankton and Sioux Falls in South Dakota and Westmar and Northwestern in Iowa.

Hastings, the only member of the Nebraska College Conference that isn't a state-supported college, also is expected to seek dual membership from the NCC.

League competition in tennis, golf, baseball and track will begin this spring. The NIAC track meet will be May 14 at NWU's Magee Stadium. A six-team NIAC baseball tourney will be May 9-11 at Sherman Field.

Because of schedule conflicts, regular season basketball competition won't begin until the 1969-70 season. For the same reason, no NIAC football championship will be decided until 1970.

However, the schools will play a basketball tournament among themselves in December at Taylor Gym. The meet will take the place of the eight-team Midwest Basketball Tournament.

Clubs Need Proper Care

(16th of a Series)
By JOHN YOUNG
Holmes Park Golf Pro

Where are your golf clubs right now? If they are in an unheated area, like the trunk of your car, move them elsewhere.

Today, I want to express to you a few things that you can do to improve the looks of your clubs as well as to help you to play better golf through a good maintenance schedule for them.

To begin with you need only a few basic items. There are golf club refurbishing kits available and they are quite satisfactory, however, here are the only essential items needed for a complete reconditioning of your clubs: a bucket of warm water, filled only high enough to wet the heads on your irons (do not fill any higher than this so that water can not seep into the hosel of your clubs), a brush, granular soap, furniture wax, towel, and if your clubs have leather grips, saddle soap and/or some leather conditioner such as Neat's Foot oil.

Put the granular soap and irons into the warm water and let them soak for a few minutes, then remove the irons one by one and scrub with the brush. Dry immediately. Do not set the woods in the water, but scrub them lightly with the brush or with a damp corner of the towel. Dry and apply wax.

Rubber grips can be cleaned several ways, soap and water being as good as any. Gasoline will do the job also. For leather grips use saddle soap and afterwards use Neat's Foot Oil. Many leather conditioners are available, but remember you want your grips to be soft and not slippery.

When playing, I suggest that you clean your club after each shot to prevent rusting and to insure a clean club for the next time you hit that same club

Two Share Hope Lead

. . . ROSBURG, COLLINS

Palm Springs, Calif. (AP) — Bob Rosburg and Bill Collins, the old guys of golf, were in front after the first round of the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic Wednesday, each firing a five-under par 67 to lead a general assault on par.

Rosburg, 41, whose last tournament victory was in the Bing Crosby in 1961, said he couldn't quite remember when he led a tournament race since then.

Collins, 39, playing out of Purchase, N.Y., shot 34-33—67 and Rosburg reversed the nine-hole scores as both played the Indian Wells Country Club.

Four courses in play — Indian Wells, Bermuda Dunes, Elorado and La Quinta — each has par 36-36—72 and measure from 6,711 yards to 6,910.

The day was perfect—sunny, crisp in the morning and warm in the afternoon — as the 136 pros and their army of amateur partners swung way in the first 18 of the 90-hole tournament.

The stars of the show took a back seat, at least for the time being.

Billy Casper, winner of the Los Angeles Open last Sunday, played L Quinta in 33-37—70, and Arnold Palmer had 37-35—72 at the same club.

Asked which of the four was the toughest, Palmer cracked, "They're all tough the way I'm striking the ball."

Tom Nieporte, at 38 seeking a second successful triumph in the Hope, shot 38-38—76. The popular pro from Locust Valley, N.Y., said he played well off the tee but his iron shots were not so good.

Midland Drops Concordia, 82-75

Seward (AP)—Midland fashioned its winning margin in the first half and had to fight off a strong Concordia bid in the second half before claiming a 82-75 Tri-State Conference basketball victory.

The Bulldogs were cold from the field in the opening period, hitting only 10 of 37 from the field, but their tough defensive game forced eight Warrior turnovers. At the half it was Midland 34-27.

Tom Raabe's free throw brought the Bulldogs to within a point, 38-37, with 16:14 left in the game before Midland slowly edged away again. Raabe paced Concordia with 19.

BLUES' CALEY BLANKS OMAHA

Kansas City (AP) — The Kansas City Blues, with goalie Don Caley recording his first shutout of the season, defeated the Omaha Knights, 7-0, in a Central Hockey League game Wednesday night.

Thirteen men, led by Norm Beaudin's two goals and one assist, figured in the Kansas City scoring. A crowd of 4,500 enabled the Blues to boost their season's attendance total to 100,605 for 22 home games. This is high for the league.

Baack, Lantz Aim For 300

Nebraska's top two basketball scorers are within the 300-point range for the season as the Huskers take on Colorado at the NU Coliseum tonight.

Tom Baack, who leads with a 19.0 average, needs only 15 to reach 300 and Stuart Lantz, averaging 18.5, is only 22 shy of that figure.

Interior Dept., State Argue Over Water

The State of Nebraska and the U.S. Interior Department were at odds Wednesday over a proposed water pollution control regulation.

The department advised state health officials it will not accept Nebraska's new water quality standards until a provision is adopted to require increased treatment of sewage discharged into interstate waters.

T. A. Filipi, executive secretary of the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council, replied in a letter that the regulation is "arbitrary, unreasonable and unenforceable."

He told Robert Burd, chief of the Interior Department's water quality standards division, that present requirements are sufficient to eliminate water pollution in Nebraska.

The state council twice has refused to adopt the government regulation, which would force all potential pollution sources along interstate waters to construct secondary as well as primary waste treatment facilities by 1983.

The department said 12 states have included the provision in their water quality standards needed to comply with the Water Pollution Control Act of 1967 and qualify for federal funds.

Failure to act could result in loss of matching money for sewage plant construction projects, or a suit forcing the state to adopt the regulation.

Reconsider Position

However, Filipi was hopeful the government would reconsider its position. He told Burd state officials would be glad to meet with him to discuss the matter.

"Surveys of Nebraska waters, both intrastate and interstate, indicate we are meeting criteria established to maintain waters for the beneficial use of those persons using them," he said in the letter.

"To establish standards now that are intended to irrevocably apply in 1983, without any present knowledge of 1983 needs, serves no good end."

Discharging Wastes

Furthermore, Filipi said, only two communities are presently discharging untreated waste into Nebraska waters.

He identified them as Bayard and Homer and said they will be required to appear before the Water Pollution Control Council March 8 to show cause why they have not constructed primary treatment facilities.

"The members of the council are not in agreement with your proposal that all waters should receive secondary treatment plus chlorination, except in those cases where it can be proven that water quality criteria cannot be maintained with a lesser degree of treatment," Filipi told Burd.

"The council feels the requirement is arbitrary and unreasonable and that action should be taken based on findings of fact and when the need arises."

Filipi said the council "takes firm exception" to the government directive to adopt the regulation and "asks your reconsideration and acceptance of our standards in the form and detail as they were submitted to you."

31 Counties Turn In Petitions Seeking 'Exclusion' Elections

Petitions from 31 counties seeking elections for exclusion from the state's educational service units were on file by deadline Wednesday with the secretary of state's office.

Deputy Secretary of State Allen J. Beerman said the checking of signatures on the petitions would begin as quickly as possible.

To place the "exclusion" question on the November ballot in the petitioning counties, he said, the petitions must contain 5% of the legal voters in at least three-fifths of the school districts in the county.

'Spot Checked'

Beerman said the number of signatures would be checked against school district voter counts certified by county superintendents and then "spot checked" against voter registrations in the county.

Beerman said a spot check of about 10% of the petition signatures against voter registration lists would be made "unless more complete checking is indicated by the spot checks."

The counties filing petition for "exclusion" elections were York, Fillmore, Nance, Phelps, Nemaha, Perkins, Greeley, Colfax, Chase, Cheyenne, Johnson, Buffalo, Valley, Hall, Pawnee, Rock, Harlan, Dundy, Keya Paha, Saunders, Sherman, Boone, Dakota, Burt, Wayne, Cumming, Brown, Holt, Hamilton, Dawson and Platte.

Madison County had filed an affidavit and petition form, but did not return any petitions, Beerman said.

Short-Circuited

S. H. Brauer Jr., executive secretary of the Nebraska School Improvement Association, said the Madison County petition effort was short-circuited by a voter re-registration ordered by the county attorney.

Four counties — Dawes, Sheridan, Thayer and Garfield — filed petitions for "inclusion" elections. Garden, Cherry and Custer had earlier filed petition affidavits, but did not return any petitions.

Tax Challengers Ask High Court To Stay Mandate

The challengers of Nebraska's state income tax asked the State Supreme Court to stay its mandate, pending appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if the state tribunal refuses to rehear its case.

The State Supreme Court held in December that the income tax passed by the 1967 Legislature was valid and constitutional. The plaintiffs, Crete businessman Phillip C. Anderson and others, asked for a rehearing Jan. 10.

A stay would not affect the state court's judgment. The taxing system went into effect Jan. 1.

Attention to federal constitutional points brought out in the plaintiffs' case suggested they may take it to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Named defendant in the case is Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

Tourist Tax Part Of Fight For Dollar

Washington (AP) — A tax on U.S. tourists' spending abroad figures in President Johnson's plans for righting the balance of payments and stemming the drain of dollars.

A few key members of Congress have been sounded out on this and other proposals, but no agreements have been reached, sources said Wednesday.

The House Ways and Means Committee will open hearings Monday on administration proposals, but committee members generally have not been told what they are.

One version of the travel tax would levy a charge on all spending above a modest amount a day. The intention would be to allow students, teachers and other low-budget tourists to carry out their travel plans, but, as one source put it, discourage the jet set.

The administration also has suggested extending the five per cent excise tax now levied on domestic air tickets to international fares.

Another proposal would abolish the privilege travelers now have of sending home gifts up to $10 value without paying duty.

French Declare Sub Lost; Israelis Search

Toulon, France (UPI) — French navy authorities declared the submarine Minerve lost at sea with all hands Wednesday night and sent official condolences to the families of its 52 crewmen.

Israeli search crews kept up their hunt for the missing sub Dakar, although hope all but vanished of finding its crew alive.

Several score shops, planes and helicopters scanned both ends of the Mediterranean Sea Wednesday in a fruitless search for the two submarines which mysteriously disappeared last week.

French authorities said the emergency oxygen supply known to be on board the Minerve would have run out around noon Wednesday.

"All chances of finding alive the crewmen of the submarine now are gone while the last hopes of localizing the wreck immediately have faded," a spokesman of the Toulon naval base said.

There was virtually no chance of finding any of the 69 crewmen from the Israeli submarine Dakar alive.

GM Profits Fall To $1,627,000,000

Detroit (UPI) — General Motors Corp. profits fell by $166 million during 1967, its second consecutive year of profits decline, the world's largest manufacturer announced Wednesday.

GM said its profits for 1967 amounted to $1,627,000,000, down 9% from the 1966 figure of $1,793,000,000. The decline came on a sales drop that went from $20.2 billion in 1966 to an even $20 billion last year.

Board Chairman James M. Roche and President Edward N. Cole said profits were lower "as a result of lower unit volume and increases in material and labor costs."

Earnings on the common stock in 1967 totaled $5.66 per share compared with $6.24 per share in 1966.

Tiemann Optimistic About Road Funds

. . . FOLLOWING TALKS

Washington (AP) — Gov. Norbert Tiemann said he was confident after a meeting with federal officials Wednesday that Nebraska will not lose a full $8 mlilion in federal highway funds.

Tiemann said Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boys assured him highway projects ready to go will be funded. The governor said he will submit a list of such projects by mid-February.

Tiemann also reported Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., will introduce legislation against any further federal highway fund freezes by the administration.

Too Early

He said Nebraska expected to lose $8 million under the nationwide $600 million highway fund cutback. He said it is too early to estimate how much less Nebraska's loss will be.

"The situation doesn't look as bad as at first flash," he said in an interview. "We're going back a little more encouraged than when we came."

Tiemann said he will meet with State Engineer John Hossack Thursday on which highway projects are ready for contracting and therefore still eligible for federal funds.

For Interstate

He said he hopes those projects will include construction on Interstate 680 around Omaha and Interstate 80 between Chappell and Big Springs.

Tiemann said he understood states would receive federal funds as projects become ready for contracting for the rest of the calendar year—with states not ready for contracting losing their share of funds.

Hruska's announcement he will introduce legislation against further highway fund cutbacks came at a meeting with the congressional delegation, Tiemann said. mann said.

Urges Measure

The governor had said before the meeting one purpose of his Washington trip was to urge introduction of such legislation.

"Congress' intent was that four cents a gallon gas tax would go into the federal highway trust fund," the governor said, "and that money can't be tampered with."

Judge: Tucson Papers' Pact Violates Law

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — A federal judge ruled Wednesday that a 1940 contract under which the Arizona Daily Star and the Tucson Daily Citizen combined their commercial operations violates antitrust laws.

U.S. District Judge James Walsh ordered the Citizen owners to divest themselves of the Star and modify the 1940 agreement.

The contract under which the newspapers' agency, Tucson Newspapers, Inc., handles business and publishing operations for both is similar to that in 21 other cities. The litigation has been regarded as a test case.

Decision Studied

Officials of the nwspapers said their attorneys were studying the 37-page decision to determine its net effect, and declined further comment immediately.

Testifying before a Senate committee on a bill to legalize such arrangements, William A. Small Jr., publisher of the Citizen and president of Arden Publishing Co., said his father purchased the Citizen in 1936.

He said it failed to produce a profit, and in 1941 the paper entered into an agreement with the Star. Small said this was done to establish a joint business, advertising, circulation, production and accounting system. The newspapers remained editorially separate.

$10 Million

Small testified he bought the Star for $10 million in 1965 to prevent its being sold to a person with whom he believed he could not successfully cooperate.

He said his intention was to resell the Star as quickly as possible, but the Justice Department blocked such a sale through the suit.

The federal suit involved numerous technicalities as well as the broad charges of violation of both the Sherman and the Clayton Antitrust Acts by virtue of the contract.

IT LOOKS IMPOSSIBLE . . . but 19½-foot-long car got stuck in 20-foot-wide garage.

Trapping Car In Garage Takes Real Patience

Hopkinsville, Ky. (AP)—Ever try turning your car around inside the garage? Chester Porta did.

When he finished, the 19½-foot-long auto was trapped lengthwise in the 20-foot-wide building.

"It took a lot of patience on my part to get the car in that position," said Porta, the city treasurer and former mayor.

His problems started when ice coated the driveway and he was unable to get up enough traction to back up the incline leading to the street.

He began maneuvering the car back and forth, finally got stuck, and telephoned for help.

A service station mechanic placed a jack under the rear wheels, moved the car a few inches, then went around to the front and repeated the process with the front wheels. One hour later, Porta was able to drive out of the garage.

The next time there's ice on the driveway; he said, "I'd do better turning the garage around."

College View Businessmen To Work On Redevelopment

The College View Businessmen's Association Wednesday voiced its intent to work exclusively for the redevelopment of that southeast Lincoln business district, disregarding the impact of proposed nearby shopping centers.

The association voted to take no position on pending requests for additional commercial zoning by Larry Price, at 48th and Van Dorn, and M. E. Shaffer, at 56th and Old Cheney Road. Both plan to open large retail outlets in the next 2 to 5 year period.

Price appeared before the association Wednesday, as did Schaffer two weeks ago.

Asked how he felt his shopping center proposal would affect College View, Price commented, "There is a danger, if other businesses don't keep up— but you can retain shoppers in this area, if you do a good job."

He noted his preference in expanding restaurant operations is to locate in a competitive area, adding, "I don't feel we ever hurt a good businessman."

The College View Group indulged in some self-criticism while discussing future plans.

Dr. C. G. Reinmuth, a dentist, called for "much more cooperation among us in College View if we're ever going to get anything done. We need to make it look like we want people . . . this area has been deteriorating for a long, long time."

Association secretary Asa Christensen urged the businessmen to "clean up" their businesses, then work toward bettering the street system.

Association president Harry McClellan said results of a College View improvement study being undertaken by Clark and Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen will be ready for review at the Feb. 14th meeting.

Association members decided to take action to supplement the study by:

—Appointing a committee to prepare additional redevelopment goals and explore development potentials.

—Soliciting money to fund future association projects, above the $900 already in the bank.

—Enrolling as many business interests as possible in the College View improvement program.

41 Years Overdue

Flint, Mich. (AP) — The Flint Public Library has recovered a book that was 41 years overdue.

18 Professors At NU Object To Anti-Drug Laws In Letter

Eighteen University of Nebraska professors, including four department chairmen, Wednesday advocated elimination of anti-drug laws and objected to the use of undercover agents to enforce existing drug laws.

The statement of the men, submitted as a letter to the NU campus newspaper, "attempt(ed) to formulate what its signers believe to be a sensible policy on drug use."

Legislation against drugs "creates more problems than it solves through its inevitable arbitrariness of enforcement, the excessive harshness of its penalties, and the tendency to make illicit trade in drugs a highly profitable business," the letter declared.

'Student Spies'

In the case of "so-called student spies the use of undercover agents almost always involves unsavory tactics of enticement and entrapment.

"That is, unsuspecting persons are invited to commit crimes by police agents. There is also a standing temptation to manufacture evidence," according to the statement.

The letter emphasized that "some" of the signers "are strongly critical of drug-taking in any form, and would even include in their concern such socially acceptable drugs as alcohol, caffeine and tobacco, but . . . nevertheless, all its signers are against legal penalties for drug-taking and drug possession."

Signers and their departments included Earl Barnawell, zoology; Richard Broude, Leonard Kaplan and Richard Woodard, law; James Cole, psychology; Louis Crompton, Robert Narveson and Lawrence Poston, English; Robert Dewey, philosophy (chairman); Richard Felton, economics; Sing-nam Fen, education; Wendell Gauger, botany (chairman); Richard Gilbert, chemical engineering; Preston Holder, anthropology (chairman); Duard Laging, art (chairman); Michael Meyer, history; Edgar Pearlstein, physics.

Alan Pickering of the United Ministries in Higher Education also signed the statement.

According to the protestors, "the state may have a right and even a duty to warn and admonish the individual against ruining his health or endangering his life . . . but he has no right to forbid him to do so."

'No Good Reasons'

The writers added that "there are no good reasons" for prohibiting drug use "even when the harmful effects of a drug are beyond question. When however, as with marijuana, the harmfulness of the drug is an open question, the severe penalties on our statute books are indefensible."

Use of undercover agents, contended the professors, would be disruptive of trust and privacy and "tends to create an atmosphere of doubt and suspicion."

St. Elizabeth Follows Trend, Plans Longer Visiting Hours

Based on a national trend in many hospitals, St. Elizabeth Hospital Monday will expand its visiting hours from the present 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 8:30 p.m. hours to a schedule that includes the hours between 11:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Officials said they feel that friends of patients will benefit from the new hours because of more easily scheduled visits; and the hospital will benefit by more distributed visitor loads throughout the day.

Hospital officials said they hope visitors will continue to keep the patient's welfare foremost in their minds by keeping visits short, by trying not to converse too much, by refraining from smoking in the rooms and by not having more than one or two visitors in a room at one time.

No expansion of visiting hours is planned for the other Lincoln hospitals.

At Providence Hospital an administration official said that visiting hours are from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 8:30 p.m., but qualified the statement.

"The famliy can come in at any time — visiting hours are for friends," she said and added that special permission is sometimes given for visits at other times, especially when out-of-town visitors are involved.

Lincoln General Hospital hours are also 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 8:30 p.m. except for the maternity ward, which has shortened evening visiting hours of 7 to 8 p.m.

Bryan Memorial Hospital shortened its visiting hours to 2 to 3 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. last July so that more time could "be given to patient needs rather than visitors' needs," a hospital official said at that time.

Housewife Dies; Operation First In South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP)—Hilda White, the 32-year-old housewife who underwent South Africa's first double heart valve transplant last week, died Wednesday night.

Dr. H. Van Wyk, medical superintendent of Johannesburg General Hospital, said a post-mortem will be held Thursday to establish the cause of death.

The operation lasted 7½ hours Jan. 23. The aortic and mitral valves were replaced with homograft valves obtained from the Johannesburg tissue bank.

CIA Spokesmen Hold Interviews With NU Students

Representatives of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) were in Lincoln this week interviewing University of Nebraska students for positions with the agency.

But the CIA was apparently interested only in hiring students after graduation from the university.

The CIA came under fire last year for giving aid to national students organizations and for hiring students to work for the CIA.

Agency representative Charles B. Pecinovsky, who declined a press interview concerning his recruitment, posted notices saying the CIA had positions for graduates with majors ranging from anthropology to library science.

Student Aid Told

More than 4,000 University of Nebraska students are receiving financial aid in the form of loans, scholarships, educational grants and part-time employment this school year, Dr. E. E. Lundak, director of the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aids, reported Wednesday.

Students wanting such financial assistance for the next school year must make application by March 1, he said.

Stock Mart Sinks In Active Trading

New York (AP) —The recently high-flying glamor stocks were pummeled again Wednesday as the stock market sank in active trading.

Investors' disenchantment with the volatile issues expanded to the blue chips and the decline spread broadly through the market.

Brokers said there was evident discouragement among investors about the critical situation in Asia and with dissatisfaction expressed about President Johnson's budget.

The market was lower from the start and prices drifted to their lowest levels.

The margin of declines over advances among individual stocks widened as the session progressed.

Volume slipped to 9.42 million shares from 10.12 million Tuesday but was at its peak at the close. The New York Stock Exchange ticker tape was two minutes late in reporting floor transactions at the final bell.

Motors, rubbers, mail order-retails, farm implements, aircrafts, electronics, rails, airlines, tobaccos and drugs were mostly lower. Oils advanced.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 4.10 to 855.47. The Associated Press 60-stock average declined 1.6 to 313.0 with industrials off 2.0, rails off .3 and utilities off 1.4.

Of 1,463 issues traded, 903 declined and 339 advanced. New 1967-68 lows exceeded new highs by 34 to 17.

Among the 15 most active issues, 9 declined and 6 advanced.

American Photocopy, off 1⅛ at 19 on 188,300 shares, was most active.

Losses among the glamor stocks included IBM 15; Control Data 9; Teldyne 6, Ling-Temco-Vought 6¼; Polaroid and Xerox 5¾.

Announcement of plans for a merger sent Signel Oil up 5 and Occidental up 1¼.

The New York Stock Exchange common stock index showed a loss of 40 cents in the average price of a share.

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange. Volume slipped to 5.28 million shares from 5.92 million Tuesday.

Gun Firing Tiny Radioactive Bullets Might Defeat Cancer

Washington (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission described Wednesday development of a promising "injection gun" technique for treating cancer with tiny radioactive projectiles.

In its annual report to Congress, the agency said also that much work remains to be done on the nation's newest nuclear missile warheads before they can be put into production.

The anticancer shooter is one of two experimental methods which appear to have possibilities for attacking malignancies with radioactive by-products of the nation's atomic energy program, the AEC said.

Amplification

AEC scientists, amplifying on the report's brief reference, told a reporter the gun technique employs tiny, seed-like bits of radioactive chromium wire as cancer-fighting "bullets" that are shot through the skin or implanted at time of surgery.

The commission's over-all report contained a wide-ranging account of developments in the military and peaceful applications of atomic energy.

The AEC picked as the highlight of last year's activities what it termed "the surge toward greater use of nuclear power to meet the nation's electricity needs of the future..."

No Reference

The commission made no reference to the Johnson administration's budget requests for the AEC during fiscal 1969, which for the first time since 1955 propose spending for military activities exceeding that for peaceful purposes.

However, in its discussion of military uses, the report reflected a major surge to perfect and produce new missile warheads — especially those of the Sentinel system which is ticketed for defense against any Red Chinese nuclear missile threat.

A vague reference in the report — amplified by the AEC in answer to a newsman's questions — brought out that further non-nuclear development work remains to be done on the Sentinel and other new missiles before they will be ready for assembly-line production.

Dobson Bros. Construction Co. was the apparent low bidder Wednesday on a water district in 63rd, Havelock Ave. to Burlington Ave. and Burlington, 63rd to 66th.

The only other bid opened by the city Wednesday was for a hydraulic boom and service body for the traffic engineering department.

Omaha Body and Equipment Co. submitted a bid of $7,211.20, compared with Badger Body and Equipment Co., $7,703.50, Causco, Inc., $8,700 and Holan, $8,960.

AID Hoodwinked, Buys Sea Water Labeled Medicine

Washington (UPI) — The Agency for International Development (AID) admitted Wednesday it was hoodwinked into buying plain ocean water as medicine for its Vietnam program.

Daniel Cohen, a member of the AID comptroller's office, confirmed the agency paid $24,000 over a two-year period for tiny vials of sea water supplied by Italian pharmaceutical firms.

Senate investigators disclosed that AID paid at a rate of $1.10 for 16 vials containing five ounces of ocean water.

Cohen told the Senate permanent investigating subcommittee that AID was fooled because the sea water was listed as physiological sodium chloride on the procurement order.

Bank Clearings Up For January

Lincoln's three downtown banks reported Wednesday that bank clearings for January, 1968, totaled $77,212,306.

This compares with $65,349,669 for the same month in 1967, 1967.

Investment Plan Helped Pay For Courthouse

David City — Today, just five years from the date of issuance, the bonds on the Butler County Courthouse will be retired and the structure will be debt-free.

County Treasurer Richard R. Liebrecht and County Clerk D. E. Struebing have been looking forward to this day for some time, and they have worked with the County Board of Supervisors and financial advisors to plan the fiscal maneuvering, so to speak, that would make it possible to pay off the last of the $225,000 bond issue at the earliest opportunity.

Started Under Brown

The financial efforts which have led to the debt-free status actually began on Dec. 1, 1942, when the county treasurer, the late Ben Brown, invested $49,950 in Series F Bonds of the U.S. Government. This money came from the funds of the political subdivisions in the county which had not been drawn from the treasurer's office by the officers of these sub-divisions. At any time these officers could have drawn on these funds when they needed money to take care of their budgetary needs.

This investment program was continued on April 1, 1943, with the investment of another $49,950. Through the years the county treasurer continued to make these investments in government securities with the interest being accumulated in a fund kept by the treasurer's office. None of the money budgeted by the political sub-divisions (schools, townships, cities, villages, etc.) was placed in the fund; just the interest from the investment of these funds.

By the summer of 1962, this interest accumulation had grown to a sizable amount, and investigation showed it could be used to help finance the construction of a new courthouse.

On Aug. 10, 1962, a citizens committee met with the County Board of Supervisors and asked that action be taken to place the question of a courthouse bond issue on the ballot.

A bond issue in the amount of $225,000 was approved at the November election, and in January 1963, the bonds were sold to the investment firms of Chiles and Co. and Stern Broso on a 10-year basis with interest averaging 2.4722 per cent.

Following the construction of the building, it was dedicated in June, 1964. In September of that year, $100,000 accumulated in the investment interest fund was applied in payment on the construction cost. The $225,000 bond issue paid most of the balance of the cost which, in the final analysis, was $334,494.

The County Board levied one mill each year in 1963, 1964, and 1965 toward payment of the bond principal and interest. In 1966, the levy of .65 of a mill was earmarked for payment of bond principal only. In 1967, there was no levy for either principal or interest.

Butler County taxpayers will have paid about $130,000 in taxes toward the cost of building this courthouse, when the final bill is marked paid today. The remainder of the cost — $205,000 plus interest — has been paid from the investment interest.

Rembrandt Work Worth $100,000 Reported Stolen

Rochester, N.Y. (AP)—Rembrandt's 300-year-old "Portrait of a Young Man," valued at more than $100,000, was stolen from the Eastman House Museum, police said Wednesday.

Police said they believed more than one man was involved in the theft because the painting and its frame weighed more than 150 pounds.

The frame was found hanging on a fence adjoining the museum, soon after the theft was discovered.

Governor Suggests Digging Up Bodies

Cummins Prison Farm, Ark. (AP) — The bodies buried in unmarked graves in a grassy field here apparently are going to be dug up, whether they hold the remains of paupers of murdered inmates.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller announced Wednesday night that he had recommended that the state penitentiary board consider having all bodies removed from the unmarked graves and placed in a "proper and decent" burial ground.

He said this could be done in conjunction with a state police investigation that began Tuesday, the day after a Cummins inmate led investigators to the field where they dug up skeletons of three men—one headless, one with the skull bashed in and a third with the legs broken.

The inmate, Reuben Johnson, 59, claimed that these were the remains of men murdered by "guards and wardens." He said he had seen "quite a few" men killed, and had helped to bury "10 or 12."

The governor acknowledged that the graves, three of perhaps 100 or more in the area, might be those of inmates whodied destitute and whose bodies went unclaimed.

On the other hand, he said, "We could be on the brink of uncovering a scandal of untold proportions."

Earlier in the day, authorities said the three skeletons found Monday would be sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for tests that are expected to be concluded within 10 days to three weeks.

Gold Drain Is $900 Million In December

Washington (UPI)—A $900 million decline in December dropped the U.S. gold supply to its lowest level since 1936, the Federal Reserve Board said Wednesday.

The December drain caused by stepped-up purchases of gold overseas left the U.S. with $12,065,000,000 in reserve gold stocks, the lowest level since the supply stood at $10.7 billion in 1936, the board said.

The drop in December, closely following the British devaluation of the pound, compared with a $74 million loss in November.

Decatur Man Files As Demo Delegate

Francis H. Hanson of Decatur Wednesday filed for election with the secretary of state as delegate at large to the Democratic national convention, pledged to President Johnson.

Digitalis In Reducing Pills Said Dangerous

Washington (UPI)—An Oregon pathologist and a California heart specialist testified Wednesday that reducing pills containing the drug digitalis can kill you.

Dr. Albert A. Kattus, chief of cardiology for the University of California at Los Angeles, and Dr. Russell C. Henry, Oregon's chief state medical examiner, said doctors should be stopped from handing out multi-ingredient pills indiscriminately.

They testified before the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, which is investigating physicians who treat obesity with pills containing varying combinations of powerful drugs such as digitalis and amphetamine.

Kattus and Henry both warned against the use of digitalis in weight reduction. They said there was strong evidence that the drug, in combination with other ingredients in the pills, could cause heart failure in normal persons even when taken in the amounts prescribed.

Several full-time weight control doctors have told the committee they freely dispense digitalis in their work.

Henry said he knew of six deaths in Oregon during the last six years caused by reducing pills.

Kattus cited six cases in which patients had come to him with severe heart disturbances, including a 27-year-old "Hollywood entertainer" who was so sick he could not lift himself from bed. All six patients returned to normal, he said, when they stopped taking diet pills containing digitalis.

Postal Receipts In Lincoln Drop From Last Year

Postal receipts in Lincoln decreased 10.9% during the period from Dec. 16, 1967, to Jan. 12, 1968, postal officials said in comparing this period's figures with those of the same period last year.

Receipts this period totaled $993,891. For the same period of 1966-67, the receipts were $1,115,630.

For the 1967 calendar year, postal receipts showed a 35.2% decrease over total receipts in 1966. Receipts in 1967 were $850,136, and for the previous year they amounted to $1,311,774.

For the 1968 year-to-date, postal receipts have had a slight increase of .9%.

During the Dec. 16 to Jan. 12 period, Lincoln originated 28,380,326 pieces of mail — a 15% decrease from previous year's 33,378,792. Lincoln also has had a 9.5% decrease in originating mail for the year to date
